In the good ole SUMMER time . . .

Travel cruises, summer school, and summer jobs captured the interests of HP students with the close of the 1979 Spring semester.

Even though a majority of students were tired of books and papers, more than three-hundred Scots returned to summer school to further their education.

On the other side of the world, Debby and Jenny Sharpe spent six weeks in Europe. Their trip consisted of cruising among the Scandinavian countries and enjoying highlighted stops in Russia and Poland.

In addition to European excursions, many Scots traveled to the sandy beaches. Evan Wyly vacationed in Malibu Beach, California, while Jill and Leah McGowin sailed to the Caribbean. Other Highland Park students opted for the beaches of Jekyl Island, Georgia with the Highland Park Presbyterian Church.

Many students devoted their time to serving others. Eight HP students volunteered for "Olé" at the Church of the Incarnation, running a day camp for underprivileged children.

Cheerleaders attended SMU's cheerleading workshop and returned with a "spirit stick" for their enthusiasm. Also attending SMU workshops were Highlander Co-editors Lisa Corey and Martha Taylor who received a first place trophy at a journalism seminar for their skill in copy writing. Lisa and Martha both felt that the workshop was beneficial to the development of the 1980 Highlander.

Let the good times roll: Senior Nelson Bell finds an economical way to travel.
Highlander heads: Co-editors Martha Taylor and Lisa Corey examine type-set books.
Go, Fight, Win!: Varsity cheerleaders perfect their form during an afternoon practice.

"The party's over": Big and Little sisters enjoy the Hi-Lites picnic on the last day of summer.
"State" swim meet: Freshmen have a blast splashing around in a Texas-shaped pool.

Picassos: Neva Knight and Meg O'Connell create a spirit banner.

Label maker: Elizabeth Naylor prepares price tags for a local boutique.

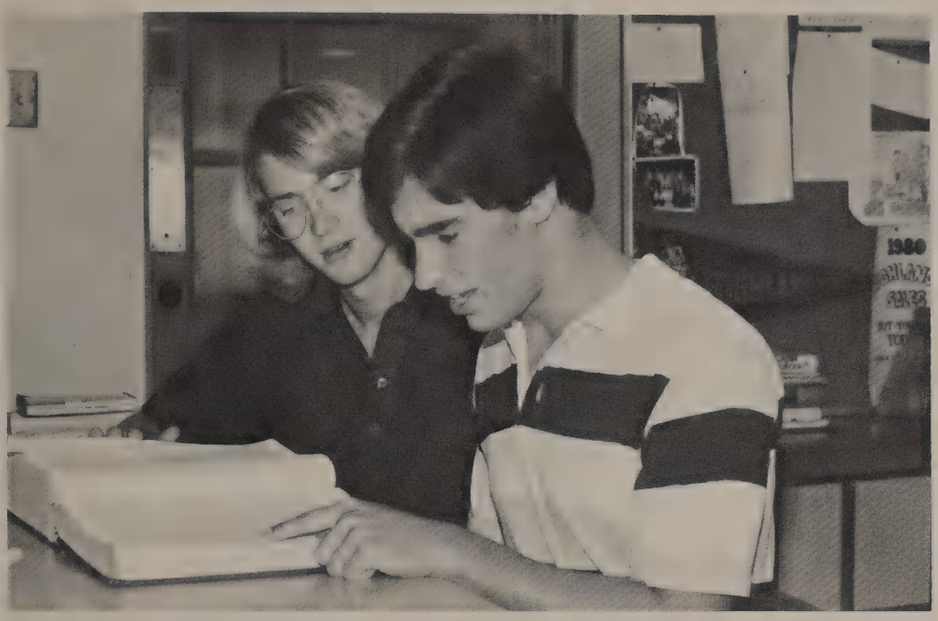

Kiltie kid: Rusty Anderson attempts to learn the high school's floor plan.

Semi-Finalists achieve merit qualification

Five semi-finalists and sixteen commendees were recognized by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation as exceptional seniors on the PSAT-NMSQT taken during the Fall of 1978.

Among the outstanding semi-finalists were seniors Ellen Eisenlohr, Alicia Rubi, Mark Jones, Gina Schaar, and Mark Taubenfeld. Commendees included Mike Barbee, Cathy Black, Philip Chalk, Kevin Christen, David Ede, Vicky Hexter, Sallie Ingle, Kathy Kendrick, Lex Martin, Hilary Srere, Lisa Radford, Anthony Masterson, Tina Smith, Scott Stephenson, Alison Stone, and Evan Wyly. The cut-off point was higher than previous years.

The semi-finalists were qualified for finalists standings if their SAT scores are equivalent to their PSAT-NMSQT scores. The semi-finalists will also be eligible to compete for various scholarships at universities. Semi-finalist Mark Jones said, "The only way I prepared for the test was by thorough reading and reviewing geometry theorems."

Com-men-dee: Evan Wyly and Scott Stephenson study vocabulary for the verbal section.

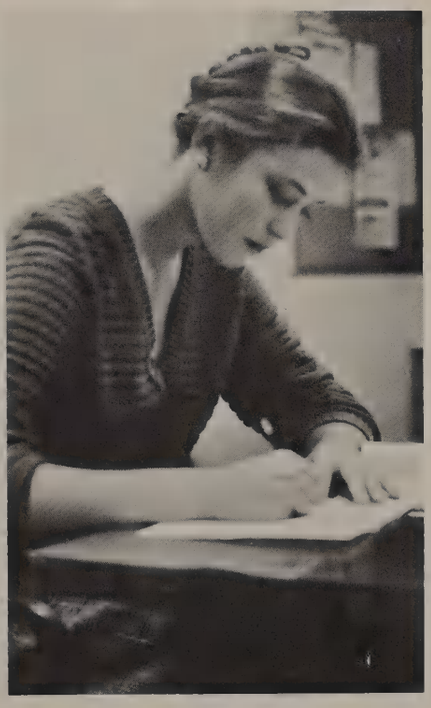

Flashcard fun: Ellen Eisenlohr, Alicia Rubi and Gina Schaar find elementary education difficult.

Squared away: Semi-finalists Mark Jones and Marc Taubenfeld review the basic theorems of geometry to prepare for college.

Bubbling in: Senior commendee Sallie Ingle takes time out to prepare her S.A.T. forms.

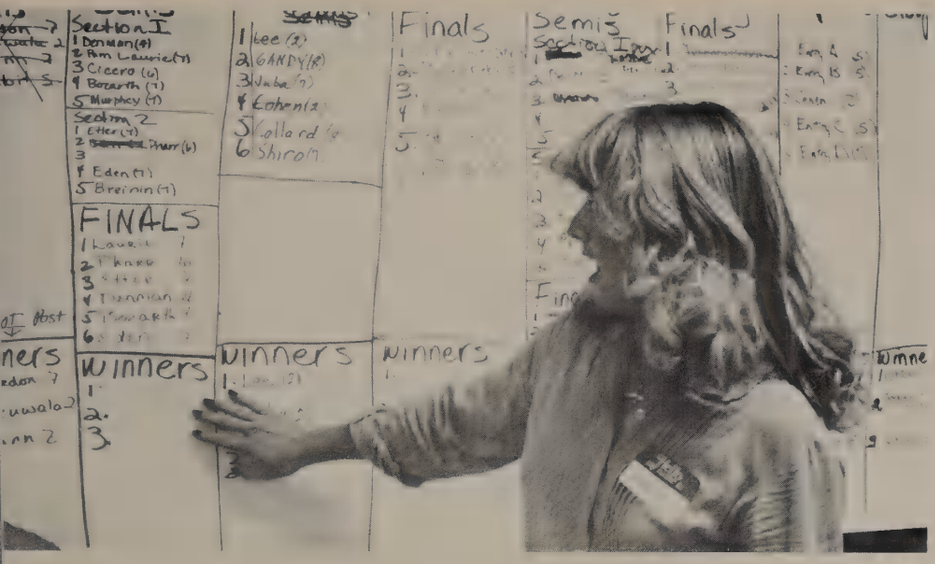

And the winners are . . .: David Davis announces the friendliest Scotties at the Howdy Dance.

Look out: The Scots are fired up and ready for the MacArthur football game.

Y'all come: Hi-Lite officers welcome new members at the first Hi-Lite meeting.

Tummy whistler disco: Senior women and Super Scot, John Larkin, entertain at the football picnic.

Fall activities keep students' time occupied

School spirit began with the slogan "One at a Time" as the Scots won their first game at Texas Stadium against Irving MacArthur. This football game, followed by the SMU-Rice match, marked the first high-school-college doubleheader in history. Enthusiasm increased with bus caravans to the "away" games and the decoration of cars by the Varsity cheerleaders.

During the summer the cafeteria was given a "face lift." Students coming back were met with catered lunches due to the on-going renovations. Many near-by restaurants provided "Big Macs" and barbeque for the first two weeks until work on the cafeteria was completed.

Howdy Week, September 3-7, concluded with the annual dance, entitled "Only the Beginning." Seniors Alison Stone and David Davis, juniors Laurie Collins and Walt Lightbourn, sophomores Claire Squibb and Brad Beutel, and freshmen Mary Sowell and Alvin Lane received the title of "friendliest."

Club organizations were underway in mid-September. Hi-Lite officers introduced themselves with a skit at the first meeting. Students listened to Patti Gruber and Sarah Pierce tell of their experiences with American Field Service in foreign countries. Back-to School Night on Sept. 19 gave parents and teachers a chance to meet one another. As "Open Date" rolled around, many seniors migrated to UT or other college campuses for the week-end. College Night offered students the opportunity to look at prospective schools.

"Come as your favorite musical character" was the theme for the annual Lads and Lassies picnic at Lee Park. Characters from "Oklahoma" and "The Sound of Music" were there as well as "Freaks" from "The Rocky Horror Picture Show." Seniors Kris Beck and Lex Martin won the prize of best costume as the scarecrow and Dorothy from "The Wizard of Oz."

Clubs, honors, parties, games mark October

October brought "fair" weather to the fun-loving Scots. Highlights of October's activities included State Fair Day, Texas-O.U. weekend, HP football games, and Halloween.

Eager to join in the fun, students rushed to get their club memberships. Hi-Lites sponsored their annual Mother-Daughter Tea on October 28. The newly-formed Record and Tapes Club held a fund raising volleyball game. The seven board members of the club also staged a bake sale to further their knowledge of the production of records and tapes.

National Honor Society inducted eight new members with the traditional candle lighting ceremony on October 23.

Five seniors were named National Merit Semi-Finalists for scoring in the top one half percent of this year's graduating senior class nation-wide on the PSAT/NMSQT, while sixteen other seniors achieved the honor of National Merit Commendee for scoring in the top two percent.

HP Cross Country track teams took first place in their first four meets, while the Varsity Football Team tackled two of their toughest competitors, Lake Highlands and Richardson.

OCTOBER

Jolly Green John: Basketballer John Briggs scores at the Record and Tape Club volleyball game.

Homecoming "lets the sun shine bright"

Kicking off for a memorable Homecoming, the Scots beat the Sherman Bearcats 27-7, making the season record 7-3 for Highland Park.

During halftime the fathers of the Homecoming Queen nominees presented their daughters to the audience in Ownby Stadium. After the victory, everyone went to the new gym and danced from ten 'til 12 to the music of "River City." The Student Council decorated the gym with sunsets and bright colors to match the Homecoming theme of "Here Comes the Sun."

Each nominee was presented to the tune of her favorite song, while escorted by a varsity football player. Grace Chandler was escorted by Rusty Ross, Michelle Jones by Tom Burson, Adrienne Macatee by Ty Snelling, Shannan Rodgers by Evan Wyly, Karen Squibb by Brian DeVaney, and Alison Stone by John Walter. Student Council President, David Davis, then ended the suspense by crowning Adrienne Macatee the 1979-1980 Homecoming Queen.

Gorgeous grin: Adrienne Macatee sparkles after being announced Homecoming Queen.
"Lift your head, lift it high": Varsity football players prove that "the mighty Scots are passin' by" as they romp the Bearcats.

NOVEMBER

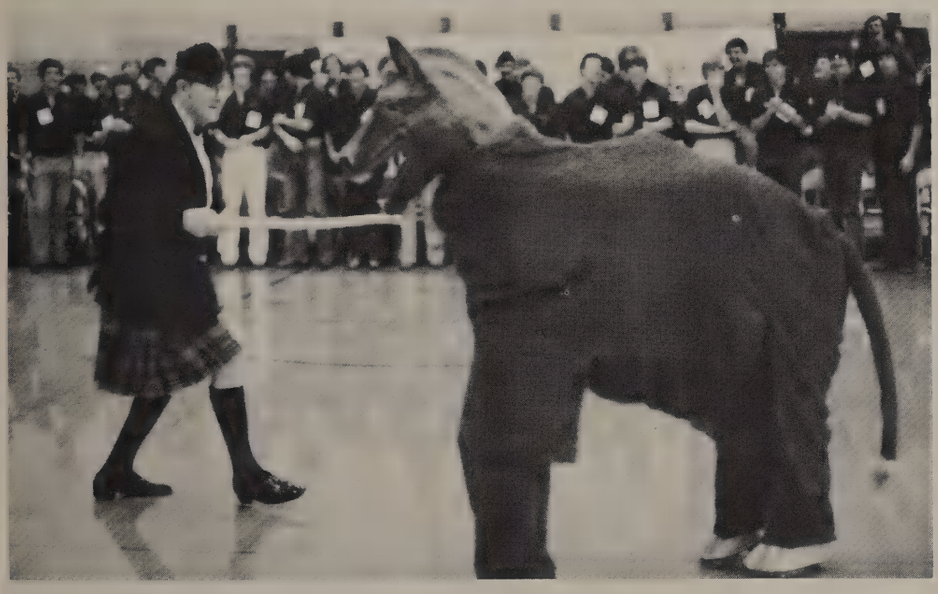

Groovy Guacamole: Señora Guzman expresses her opinion of the food at the cook off.

Studious students: HP pupils spend every spare minute studying for their final exams.

Sneaker Day, pupils' finals conclude fall

School was definitely underway by the time November rolled around, when seniors placed their orders for graduation announcements. At the same time selected seniors, under the supervision of drama teacher Mrs. Linda Raya were rehearsing for the annual Senior Play which opened on the 7th. Capturing the lead roles were Kris Beck, Ellen Eisenlohr, Lex Martin, and Scott Canon in Arsenic and Old Lace.

Junior class elections were held during the month and Walt Lightbourn was elected President; Tommy Summers, Vice President; Margaret Williams, Secretary; and John Marks, Treasurer.

HP tried something new as Homecoming week rolled around. One day all the Scots wore tennis shoes to go with the theme of "Sneak Past the Bearcats." The following day was declared "Overall Day" to support the slogan, "The Scots will win overall." The events were topped off by Blue and Gold Day, as the last football pep rally of the season ended.

Homecoming Queen nominees, Grace Chandler, Alison Stone, Karen Squibb, Shannan Rodgers, Michelle Jones, and Adrienne Macatee were all escorted by their fathers at half-time of the football game. Later at the dance, Adrienne Macatee was announced as 1979 Homecoming Queen.

To keep the Scot pride running, both the boys and girls cross country track teams won regionals and advanced to the state meet. Senior, John Guffey, led the boys while senior, Dana Tinkle, and junior, Mary Leslie Clements, led the girls on to victory.

Near the end of November, students took trimester exams, followed by a well deserved and relaxing 3-day Thanksgiving holiday.

Arsenic and Old Lace

The setting for this year's Senior play, Arsenic and Old Lace, was the Brewster home in Brooklyn, New York, where spinster Abby Brewster (Kris Beck) and her sister Martha (Ellen Eisenlohr) put lonely old people out of their misery by poisoning them. In the comedy, by Joseph Kesselring, the nephew Mortimer (Scott Canon) learns that his brother Teddy (Lex Martin), who believes he is Theodore Roosevelt, is burying the aunts' victims in the cellar, thinking they are yellow fever victims. Life for Mortimer becomes even more hectic with the arrival of his long lost brother Jonathan (Jeff Sargent), and his companion Dr. Einstein (Jon Hochberg and Byron Fisher) who hold Mortimer hostage and try to kill him.

Supporting performances were given by Todd Farrell and Tad Herrscher double cast as the overzealous Officer O'Hara, Julie Pate and Liz Feld alternately playing Mortimer's fiance Elaine, and Vicky Hexter and Sarah Kane sharing the role of Dr. Witherspoon.

Other members of the cast included Karen Casey, Jimmy Coleman, Phil Brandes, David Haggart, Marcie Kirby, John Lancaster, Russell Power, Dan Holman, and Craig Clark.

Mrs. Linda Raya directed the play with the help of stage managers Cynthia Jones, Blake Malouf, and Marla Waak, who oversaw the work of various crew heads. The crew heads, Melanie Munnell, Cindy Woods, Shannan Rodgers, Kathy Wideman, Diane Duvall, Janice Kenyon, Jeanna Lane, Mark Mills, Shannon Skripka, Amy Aldredge, Sue Holmes, Helen Florence, Jeff Coker, Brian Daves, Lisa Parnell, Deanna Carter, and Susan Jones were in charge of set construction, costumes, props, lights, and make-up. In command of the show's finances was Business Manager Tina Smith.

The show was presented on November 7, 8, 9, and 10th, and according to Mrs. Raya, "the show was a great artistic success." The traditional breakfast was held at the Fairmont Hotel after the last performance.

All tied up: Mortimer (Scott Canon) cringes as Jonathan (Jeff Sargent) tries to stab him.

"But, Mortimer!" Cry Abby (Kris Beck) and Martha (Ellen Eisenlohr), "There are only twelve bodies."

"Bully": Teddy (Lex Martin) announces his arrival, as Abby (Kris Beck) calms him.

Ride 'em cowboy: Pontus Svensson experiences the real Texas life on a bicycle instead of a horse.

Pigskin power: Ian Petit practices his newly acquired American sport of football.

AFS students Ian, Pontus explore Texas

Enthusiastic football fans and the large number of students who own cars were two differences that both AFS students, Ian Petit and Pontus Svensson, found between the United States and their own countries.

Pontus, who lived with Junior Tom Pettinger, commented that his school in Sweden, "doesn't know what school spirit is." Pontus was involved in AFS, Thespians, Round Table, and the Sailing club. His hobbies included sailing and skiing. He enjoyed displaying his skiing ability on his American family's Christmas ski trip to Colorado.

Ian, from Australia, lived with Andrea Kahn, and he noted that Texans were more outgoing and relaxed with their schoolwork than were the students in Australia. He said, "the girls are all pretty," and he thought the dances were a lot of fun. Ian trained with the HP Blue Wave Swim Team but was not allowed by UIL rules to compete in swim meets. He was also a member of Lads and Lassies choir and in the cast of the 1980 musical "Guys and Dolls." He participated in Thespians, Round Table, and AFS.

Highland Park 1979 graduates Daphne Lewis, Patti Gruber, and Sarah Pierce spent the summer in South America with the Americans Abroad segment of AFS, and Senior '79 Karen Johnson spent the full year. Studying and learning about Finland.

Volleyball, Christmas caroling highlight month of December

Lads and Lassies Choir helped start off the Christmas spirit with their caroling at Highland Park Methodist Church, Northpark Shopping Center, and the Park Cities Rotary Club. All the choirs participated in caroling to nearby elders, friends, and neighbors.

Mrs. Linda Raya's advanced drama classes wrote original Christmas plays which were performed in hospitals and children's homes the last week before Christmas vacation.

The Scot Varsity Basketball team placed second in the annual Scot Classic Tournament in the first of December. Supportive fans followed the Scots to the Austin Tournament where the team took third place.

The Records and Tapes Club hosted a volleyball game against the faculty, proudly accepting the prize of throwing a pie at Mr. Mike Atteberry.

In mid-December, many students attended the fall Hi-Lite Dance with the original theme of "Pajama Party." Toys were brought in advisories to be distributed by the Student Council to needy families. The advisory with the most toys was awarded a prize.

Clubs planned Christmas parties for the week of December 17-21. The Thespian Club hosted its annual Christmas banquet, and the Highlander staff had its party with the exchange of gag gifts, following a buffet of delicious desserts.

Reaching high: Lynn Mount helps decorate the new gym for the fall Hi-Lites dance.

Is it good?: Mr. Atterbery tastes the agony of defeat at a Records and Tapes volleyball game.

Is it edible?: Cafeteria Committee tastes new ideas for future cafeteria menus.

Seeing double?: Mrs. Raya's drama students dress for their morning Christmas performances.

Christmas spirit: Anne McConnell brings joy to the old folks at a local nursing home.

JANUARY

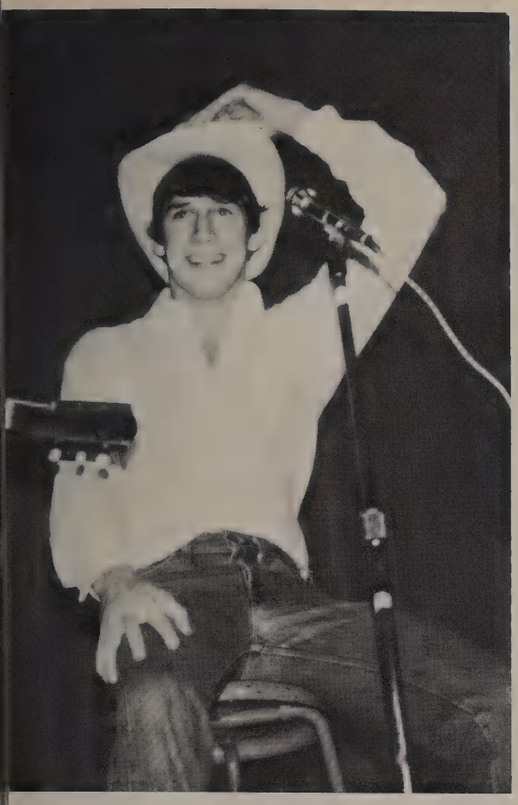

Leave it to Bevers: Head football coach Frank Bevers reminisces about the 1979 season at the H.P. football banquet.
A+ Athlete: Lance McIlhenny examines his football recognition.

Connect the dots: Jon Andrus concentrates on his questions during freshman testing in the auditorium.
Relief!: John Barns lays down on the job during a musical rehearsal.

Pickin' and grinnin': Hagar Brothers, Michael Crow and Tom Breedlove, perform at the Super Show.
46 years behind: School Board President Walter Spradley presents a blanket to visiting Gov. Clements.
Under Control: Don Phillips and Chris Williams entertain with their punk rock group at a Friday assembly.

Assembly for Gov. Clements heralds beginning of decade

The new decade of the 80's was well introduced to Highland Park students by a special visit from Governor William Clements, who visited his alma mater on January 18. He spoke on current issues in Texas and the United States and then held a question and answer session with students. As an expression of gratitude, he was presented with an HP blanket and a piece of the old Highlander Stadium bleachers.

The cast of the 1980 musical Guys and Dolls went into final full scale rehearsals as the new year started, and opened the show on January 31.

The third annual Student Council Super Show was held on January 11 during advisory. The talent show presented musical performances by Anne McConnell, Chris Lallier, Shane Read, Robbie Leftwich, Don Rowe, Ann Candamio, Valerie Trent, Mary Mills, Mark Mills, and Scot Sigler. Tom Breedlove and Mike Crow appeared as the Hager Brothers, and emcees Lex Martin and David Davis added special commentary throughout the show.

Six choir members auditioned for places in the Texas All-State Choir. Mary Mills, the first HP sophomore ever to be so honored, Catherine Carter, and Cameron Smiley were chosen to join the All State Choir, and performed with singers throughout Texas in the spring.

On January 24, 12 Thespians travelled to Houston to attend the state Thespian convention. Students attended workshops and viewed productions by other schools. Vicky Hexter, Doug Wright, and Jeff Sargent performed Anton Chekhov's The Marriage Proposal for the convention.

The annual Scot football banquet was held on January 23rd. Captains David White, Lance McIlhenny, and Tom Burson summarized the season, and Coach Frank Bevers presented the player awards. Chris Rote received the "Forgotten Lineman" distinction while Brian DeVaney was named "Fightn'st Scot" and Ty Snelling recognized as "Most Conscientious Scot." Entertainment for the evening was provided by teachers Mr. Jerry Smith and Dr. Lawrence Puckett who played their guitars.

Start of February capped off with belated winter snowfall

Snowfalls in early February transformed previously warm weathered Dallas into a winter wonderland.

The 1980 musical Guys and Dolls concluded performances on February first and second. Cast and crew members celebrated their successful show at private cast parties and a dance at the YMCA on closing night.

The AFS Carnation Sales were a popular success this year despite the inflation-caused increase in price. Carnations were sent to students' first period classes on Valentine's Day. All profits from the project supported the foreign exchange students that attended Highland Park.

During Teacher Appreciation Week, February 11-15, the Student Council held a Teacher Appreciation Tea. The event, held after school on Wednesday, February 13, had a Valentines theme and was given to honor the teachers and administration. Entertainment was provided by a barbershop quartet consisting of David Davis, David Hawes, Stewart Thomas, and Lex Martin, a humorous interpretation by Stephanie Jackson, and a readers theater poetic performance by Doug Wright and Kim Keany.

Highlander Staff members celebrated the completion of their final deadline on February 22. Co-Business Managers Ann Aston and Ellen Wiggens submitted the last ads and Editors Martha Taylor and Lisa Corey handed their job over to Associate Editors Cathy Fuller and Tricia Buddendorf.

The Varsity Basketball team finished their regular district play in a thriller against Pearce on February 19. The soccer season began just a few days earlier, on February 15, in a match against South Garland.

February 18-22 was National Brotherhood Week. To honor the occasion the Student Council hosted a 30 minute film during advisory about the inspirational life of skier Jill Kilmont.

The month of February ended with exams on the 27th and 28th. Teachers finalized trimester grades on February 29 while students celebrated Leap Year and the end of the trimester.

Hold me close: Seniors David Ede and Karen Squibb demonstrate how to get togéther at the "Sock Hop."
Welcome back: Mrs. Cloriene Barrett returns to HPHS to lecture a senior English class.
Carnation craze: Doug Stuart sorts flowers.

Barber shop quartet: Stewart Thomas, David Davis, Lex Martin and David Hawes serenade Mr. Smith at the Teacher Appreciation Tea.

Blow out: Mrs. Rogosin celebrates her birthday with a student-council-baked cake.

Wheelbarrow: Tommy Summers and Chris Busbee race in the Battle of the Sexes.

Music Department presents Broadway's "Guys and Dolls"

On January 30-February 2, the Highland Park Music Department staged the hit Broadway musical, Guys and Dolls, which followed the action of New York gamblers in the 1950's, their girls, and their difficulty in deciding between the rolling of the dice and the beating of the heart.

Specifically, Nathan Detroit (Lex Martin), proprietor of "The Oldest Established Permanent Floating Crap Game in New York," is definitely, if irregularly, devoted to Miss Adelaide (Lucy Morrison), a night club singer. They have been engaged for fourteen years, but their nuptials have been continually postponed because of Nathan's periodic need to superintend a feverish crap game.

Another romance concerns Sky Masterson (Cameron Smiley), a big-time, fun-loving gambler, and Sarah Brown (Catherine Carter), a Salvation Army lass, head of the gallant but run down Save-a-Soul Mission. Even though complications ensue, the two girls decide to "Marry the Man Today," and the proverbial happy ending concludes the musical fable with both couples happily wed and back on Broadway.

Other leads included Jeff Blain as Sarah's grandfather, Arvide Abernathy, Stewart Thomas as Harry the Horse, and his companion Big Jule, portrayed by John Barns. Scott Farrar and David Hawes appeared as Benny Southstreet and Nicely-Nicely Johnson, respectively, with David leading the entire cast in the show stopping tune, "Sit Down, You're Rockin' the Boat."

Fifty seven crew members successfully prepared drops, makeup, wardrobe, audio, lighting, and props under the supervision of Tommy Summers, Kim Holmes, Mark Mills, and Ellen Eisenlohr.

The cast was led by Producer/Musical Director Don Waugh, Acting Director/Choreographer Ben Mckinley, and rehearsal Accompanist Doug Cuny. Makeup Consultant Peggy Woods supplied know-how, and the orchestra was conducted by Arlington Judefind. Cast parties were held after each performance, including a casino at the Dallas Country Club and a dance at the YMCA.

True love: Sky Masterson (Cameron Smiley) tells Sarah (Catherine Carter) his love has "come along."
Bottoms up!: Nicely-Nicely (David Hawes) and Sky (Cameron Smiley) discuss "dolls."
"The Oldest Established": Ian Petit, Scott Milliorn, Mike Steele, Ross Carlton, and Craig Clark harmonize.

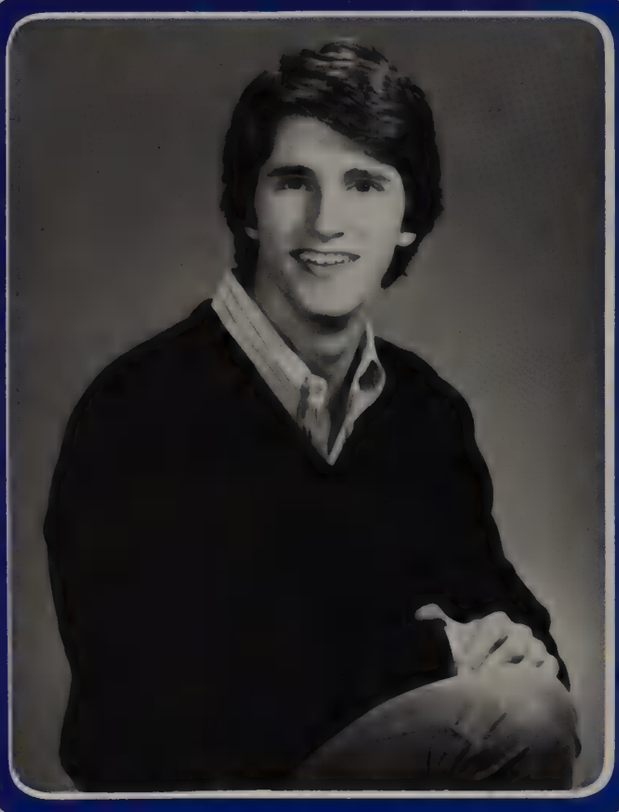

Double trouble: Adelaide (Lucy Morrison) and Sarah (Catherine Carter) solve the problems of marriage.
"Sue Me": Nathan Detroit (Lex Martin) croons to Miss Adelaide (Lucy Morrison).

Eight chosen

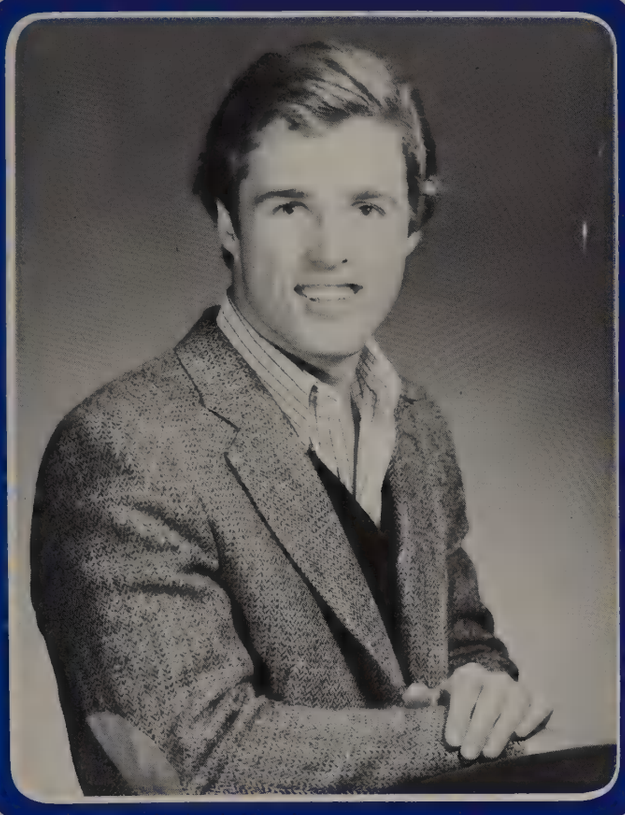

In a December ballot, the student body chose eight seniors as favorites. These students were selected on the basis of their personality and achievement. Both a B-team and Varsity cheerleader, Liz Feld was also a member of the girls' soccer team. She was involved in Student Council and played a major role in the Senior Play Arsenic and Old Lace. Besides raising Scot Spirit as a Varsity cheerleader, Nelson Bell was the Secretary of F.C.A. As a member of the Key Club, Nelson was also a Hi-Lite King nominee.

Tom Burson

Michelle Jones transferred to Highland Park her junior year. She played on the girls' volleyball team and served as a Varsity cheerleader. Michelle was also nominated for Homecoming Queen. Runningback Tom Burson was a football team captain, named to All-District 13-AAAA first team punter and second team back. Senior representative-at-large, Tom was a Student Council member for three years. He was president of F.C.A. and participated in the Key Club and track team.

HPHS Seniors of 1980 were asked in a poll taken by the Highlander in February to express their opinions on their favorite movie, car, and singer or musical group. Since students spent a great deal of time and money during the year on entertainment, music, and transportation, the yearbook staff felt it would be interesting to disclose the top five choices in the three categories.

ACADEMICS

Not bad, not bad: Mr. Wayne Johnson oversees Leslie Bradshaw's efforts in mechanical drawing class.

HP principal serves school, SAT Board

Dr. E. A. Sigler marked the school year by serving on the National Scholastic Aptitude Test Committee. The committee is composed of faculty members from various colleges and universities, and evaluates the SAT tests administered to high school students. "I considered serving on the committee quite a valuable experience," Dr. Sigler commented, adding that he usually made two trips a year to New York City to meet with other committee members.

The prime project for Dr. Sigler this year was the planned conversion from the trimester system to the semester system, which involves different changes for each department. In connection with this, Dr. Sigler held early-morning breakfast meetings with each department in the school, giving teachers a chance to voice opinions and ask questions about the new semester plan.

A fishing enthusiast, Dr. Sigler spent his vacation on the Gulf Coast, and enjoyed traveling with his family during Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Dr. Ernie Ritter spent the school year administering to tenth and twelfth grade students, a change from the ninth and eleventh grade students he counseled last year. He was also asked to serve on the committee that evaluates the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test administered to junior students.

The change from the trimester system to the semester system also concerned Dr. Ritter, who served on a committee designed to ease the projected switch to the new method. He also plans to deal in the future with the matter of advisories and how the half-hour advisory period can be better utilized.

The father of four children, Dr. Ritter spent his spare time relaxing with his family. Last summer he realized a long-cherished dream by completing work on his doctoral degree in administrative education.

Mrs. Therese Rogosin, the new assistant principal for ninth and eleventh graders, found her first year enjoyable, and commented, "The faculty and students have been pleasant and very receptive." Mrs. Rogosin served as an administrative intern at HP during the 1978-79 school year, and finished her work on her educational administrative supervisor certificate during the summer.

In her spare time, Mrs. Rogosin and her husband Donn enjoy photography and traveling. A back-packing enthusiast, Mrs. Rogosin also plays the flute, and performed for delighted teachers at the HP Faculty Christmas party.

Board decides payroll hike, improvements

The 1979 School Board moved their meetings to new quarters as the new addition to the administration building opened.

Throughout the year, the School Board supervised the cafeteria revitalization that began in 1978 after a school bond election provided funds for the renovations. They also accepted the gift of one hundred thousand dollars from Republic National Bank for the addition of a large and modern score board for the new stadium.

Aside from overseeing the construction at Highland Park High School, the School Board, led by Walter Spradley, President; Elgin Ware, Vice President; John Eisenlohr, Secretary; and Trevor Rees-Jones, Finance Officer; Arthur Z. Barnes, Darrell M. Lafitte, and Mrs. Duffield Smith, Jr. also reviewed the curriculum guides for the English, Foreign Language, Health, and Mathematics departments in all six Highland Park Schools. The members discussed the effectiveness of each curriculum guide and made changes where necessary.

To keep pace with the rising cost of living, school trustees voted for an increase in the faculty payroll in proportion to the rising inflation rate. Members also reviewed Highland Park test scores and compared them on a regional and national scope, and found Highland Park students highly competitive with high school students throughout the country.

Penny for your thoughts: Mr. Walter M. Spradley ponders the increase in faculty payroll.

Concentration: Dr. Winston Power contemplates new suggestions for curriculum changes.

Top priority: Mrs. Duffield Smith takes notes on new decisions concerning renovations.

Teachers gain new insights, broaden scope

Several members of the faculty and staff attended seminars, workshops and courses during their summer vacation. A number of teachers took courses in a foreign language at various universities in the area. Mrs. Eleonora Guzman participated in a seminar about Hispanic language and culture at North Texas State University. Ms. Phyllis Glover spent four weeks of her vacation taking an intensive Spanish course in Cuernavaca. Locally, Mrs. Carolyn Brown attended a beginning Spanish course at the University of Texas at Dallas.

Other faculty members studied language, music and art in various parts of the state. Mr. Don Waugh traveled to San Antonio to attend a music workshop. Houston was the destination of Miss Paula Duckworth who took a course at Alfred Glassell, Jr. School of Art. Miss Karen Thomas, however, stayed in this area to participate in a linguistics course at the University of Texas at Arlington.

Several teachers and staff members concentrated on spending their summer vacation completing their degrees. The new speech teacher, Ms. Anne Miley, achieved her master's degree from Henderson State University in Arkadelphia, Arkansas, before moving to Dallas this summer. Mr. Ben Tyler completed his studies for a master's degree from East Texas State University. Also, the new assistant principal, Mrs. Therese Rogosin, finished a course for her educational administrative supervision certificate. Similarly, Ms. Mary Ann Coppedge received her master's degree and took the comprehensive exam in business during the summer.

FACULTY

While some faculty members spent their summer vacation recuperating at home after a busy school year, others found the rest they needed abroad and in different spots around the U.S.

Traveling Europe were Mrs. Gloria Hamilton, Mrs. Janis Knott, and Mrs. Julia Sutcliffe. While touring Europe for six weeks, Mrs. Knott found that her two favorite countries were Austria and Switzerland, and, although her trip was uneventful, she was "happy to get home." Canada was another foreign spot visited. Miss Evelyn Lehman visited British Columbia, while Mrs. Kathrine Norman took a bus tour throughout the Canadian provinces.

Providing points of interest for other teachers was the United States. Mrs. Priscilla Fish enjoyed the scenery of Cape Cod, and Mrs. Martha Sargent vacationed in Arkansas and new Orleans. Mr. Dennis Day soaked in the sights of New York City. Mrs. Mindy Simmons took part in counseling at a summer camp, as did Miss Cressan Milligan, who counseled at a local church camp for the third year in a row. Still other teachers spent their summer with the usual "hustling and bustling" that moving involves.

A variety of interests and hobbies kept faculty members busy after school demands had been met.

Complying with the shape up or ship out trend of today, the most popular extracurricular activities had to do with getting or staying fit. Mrs. Cathy Morris, Mrs. Ethel Forman, Miss Mary Anne Coppedge, and Mr. Charles Tucker, among many others, enjoyed horseback riding, golf, swimming, jogging, and water skiing.

On the flip side of the coin, Mrs. Mary Thompson, Mrs. Reyburn Myers, Mrs. Pam Bush and Mrs. Mary Hoebeke spent many hours polishing up on their cooking skills in order to please husbands and families.

Many faculty members chose to express themselves through numerous creative endeavors. Among these were painting, done by Mr. Jim Carter, Mrs. Pat Sargent, and Miss Claire King, and brass rubbings, done by Miss Cathy Orr. Needlework was also extremely popular. Mrs. Mary Dillard, Mrs. Kathy Krueger, Mrs. Courtney Winnfford and Miss Karen Thomas were among those who got involved in yarn and designs.

Hunting, fishing, and camping occupied the time of Mrs. Therese Rogosin, Mr. Ben Tyler, Mr. Sammy Halbrook and Mrs. Evelyn Drury. Mr. Randy Emery visited the horse races and Mr. Don Richardson studied Indian art during spare hours.

Counselors help students with decisions

Highland Park High School counselors remained busy with their respective jobs. Ninth grade counselor Mrs. Barbara Brown was occupied with helping freshmen adapt to their new surroundings.

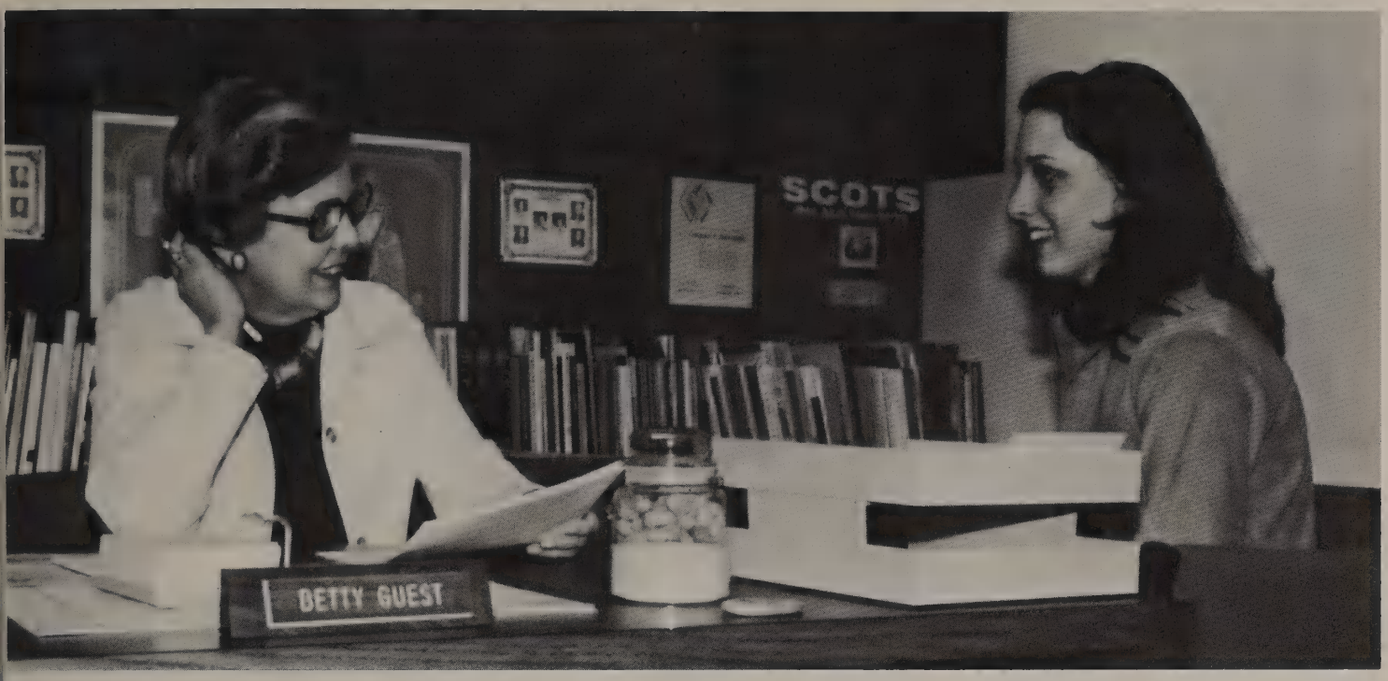

Both tenth and eleventh grade counselors Mrs. Willetta Peckham and Mrs. Donna Fischer helped sophomores and juniors make out their four year plans. Senior counselor Mrs. Betty Guest was kept busy figuring out which seniors needed more credits to graduate. Aside from this, she also helped seniors decide which colleges were best suited for them.

Mrs. Marion Lyons and Mrs. Joyce Carmichael kept busy with admitting tardy students and checking absences. They used student volunteers to pick up each classroom's attendance cards.

Mrs. Mary Hoebeke and Mrs. Marlene Stewart kept busy trying to keep the students in the library quiet. They used student volunteers to help check out books, make change, and run errands.

Nurse Mrs. Delores Snodgrass took students' temperatures and tested their hearing and vision.

All here: Mrs. Lyons and Mrs. Carmichael check attendance cards.
Getting advice: Amy Wise listens to senior counselor Mrs. Betty Guest give guidance on out-of-state colleges.
Booking it: Mrs. Mary Hoebeke checks in a book.
Hotline: Mrs. Willetta Peckham talks to an interested parent.

Drama, action characterize English scene

Under a new chairman, Mrs. Carolyn Brown, this year's English curriculum included everything from Shakespeare to Mark Twain, and more current authors, such as Thornton Wilder.

The Freshman students got their first taste of Shakespeare while reading Merchant of Venice and Romeo and Juliet. Another first for Freshmen was reading William Gibson's The Miracle Worker, to which they gave Rave Reviews.

Sophomore students concerned themselves with Arthur Miller's historical play The Crucible. Other points of interest were poetry and short stories. A Separate Peace was one of the novels examined.

Junior English classes were kept busy by reading Huckleberry Finn, Scarlet Letter, Macbeth, and Our Town. In addition, students were assigned the job of writing their first term theme.

Senior classes explored Kessler's Darkness at Noon, Golding's Lord of the Flies, and Tennyson's Idylls of the King.

Speech students concentrated on creative speeches along with interpretations of poetry and prose. Advanced students represented the school in various speech tournaments.

Drama classes gained points entertaining children at day care centers during the holiday bustle.

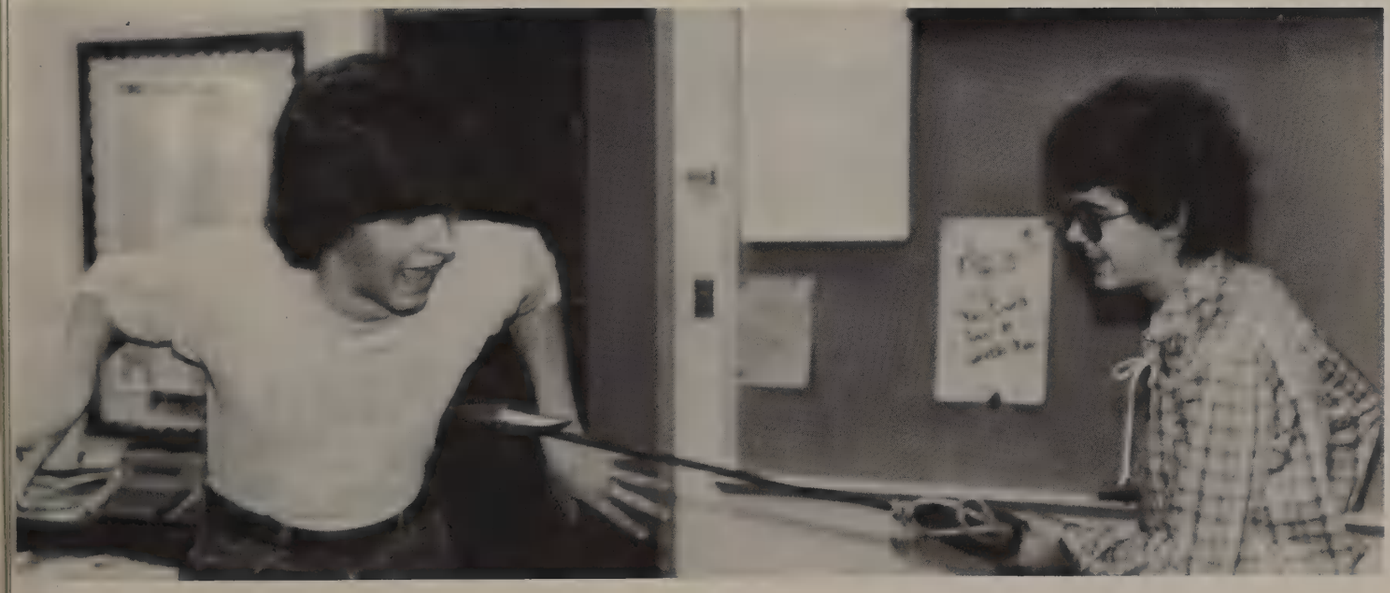

He's dead: John Marks proclaims Bill Kilgore expired in an English drama.
Paper panic: Houston Holmes feels harrassed by an English term paper.
Kukla, Fran, and Ollie?: Two students in Mrs. Mary Dillard's English class put on a puppet show inspired by Macbeth.
There's no business . . .: Advanced drama students Cindy Woods, Melanie Munnell, and Shannan Rodgers rehearse for a holiday program.
Touché: Jeff Sargent and Michelle Butler examine a harpoon similar to the one used in the novel Moby Dick.

Trig, calculus keep students' minds ticking

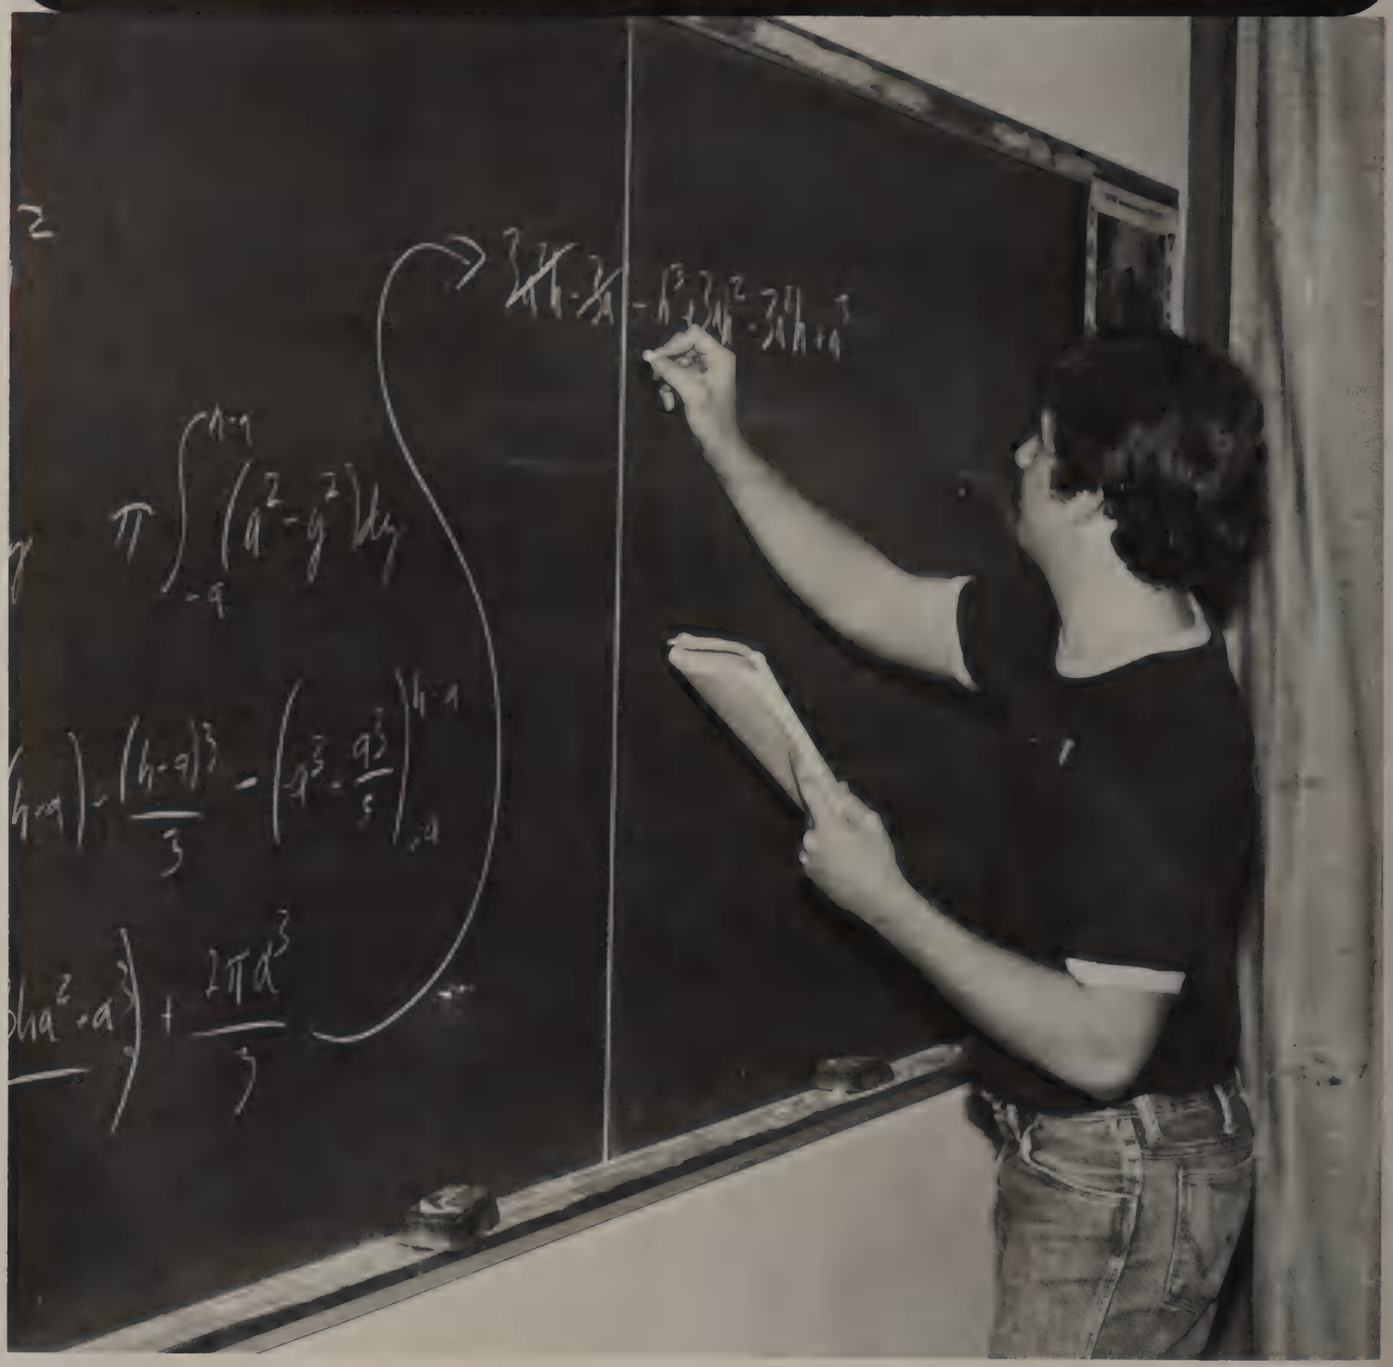

Algebra I was tackled by freshmen as soon as they entered high school. This was just the beginning of their three years of required math. They delved into such areas as factoring, plotting points, graphs, and algebraic formulas.

Sophomore Algebra II students continued to learn about factoring and graphing, but they also got a taste of logarithms, matrices, and sequences and series.

Junior students undertook geometry. They learned how to handle proofs, the pythagorean theorem, and areas and volumes.

Miss Cathrine Walter's MW trig students did special projects which showed how imaginative some could become with graphs. Junior Houston Holmes inserted graphs into fortune cookies while Murphy Martin created a city using graphs as part of the streets.

AP calculus students prepared themselves for the AP exam under Mrs. Gloria Hamilton. Their college equivalent work dealt with rates of changes, inverse operations and finding the areas of irregular curves.

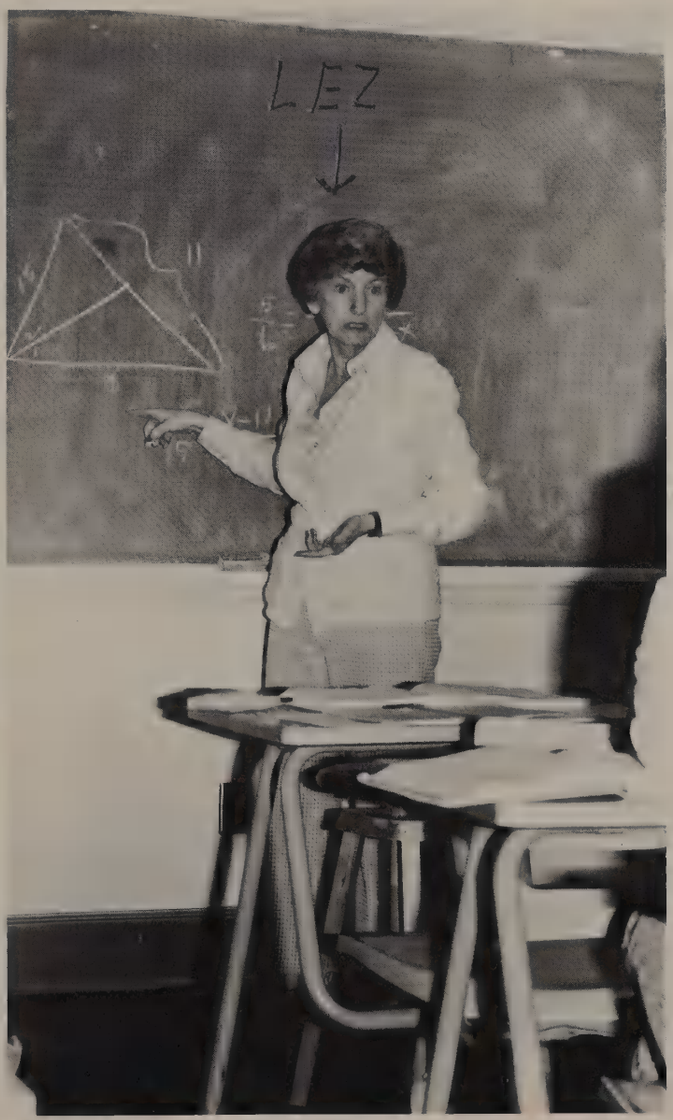

Tri-triggers: Vicky Hart, Nam Dang, and Shirley Millier display their trigonometry projects.

Computer whiz: Marc Soloman programs new data to solve a problem of logic.

Just plain geometry: Mrs. Sutcliffe explains the fundamentals of theorems and postulates.

Integration?: Steve Forman finds calculus problems interesting.

Students' ideas, work displayed at science fair

Test tubes, energy, scientific theories, and genetic studies involved the minds of students in the science department. Major works biology students worked on projects for the science fair, and later, for display at open house. Other biology students were busy noting plant and animal reproduction and working in the lab.

Chemistry students spent much of their time balancing chemical equations and contemplating atoms and their properties. In the physics department, students kept active proving theories and exploring the inclined plane.

Physical science pupils converted the English system of measurement to metric units and worked on the physical properties in their many experimentations.

Quantum quarks: Anne Snider, Suzanne Asaff, and Diane Fullingim attempt to comprehend the complexity of atoms of certain elements.

A little drop will do: David Hunt and Dennis Mullinix tamper with solutions in the lab.

Hammerhead: Physics student Stewart Thomas prepares a volatile chemical reaction.

I smell a rat: Juniors Debbie Reichert and Kathy Raley examine a mouse with Mrs. Leitner in the science lab during a study of mammals.

Mad scientists: Leigh Anne Sherer, Wendy Weber, and Cathy Fuller complete an experiment in chemistry class.

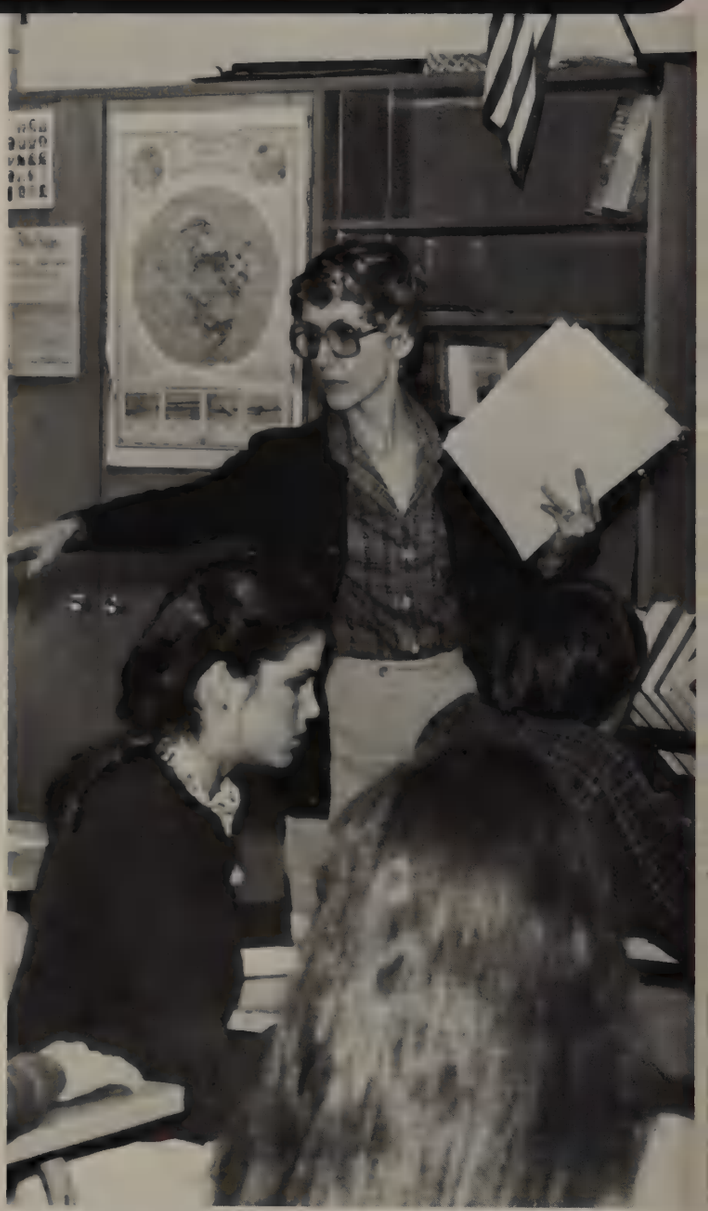

Political news, term papers interest pupils

H.P. social studies classes were very busy this year. World history students studied different cultures of the world over a period of one million years up to present day. Lectures by guest speakers highlighted the course, and Mrs. Catherine Morris' students did oral reports on the Renaissance and Reformation.

A study of post-Civil War America with heavy emphasis on the World Wars and the Old West was the task of American history students, both regular and AP. Curriculum included oral reports on the Depression and open discussions on the Iran situation. Mrs. Sheila Douthit's students made an informative slide show for open house. Mr. Don Brown's AP students worked hard preparing for their AP exam.

Economics classes studied the structure and characteristics of our free enterprise system. Much time was spent on the laws of supply and demand and other economic principles of America.

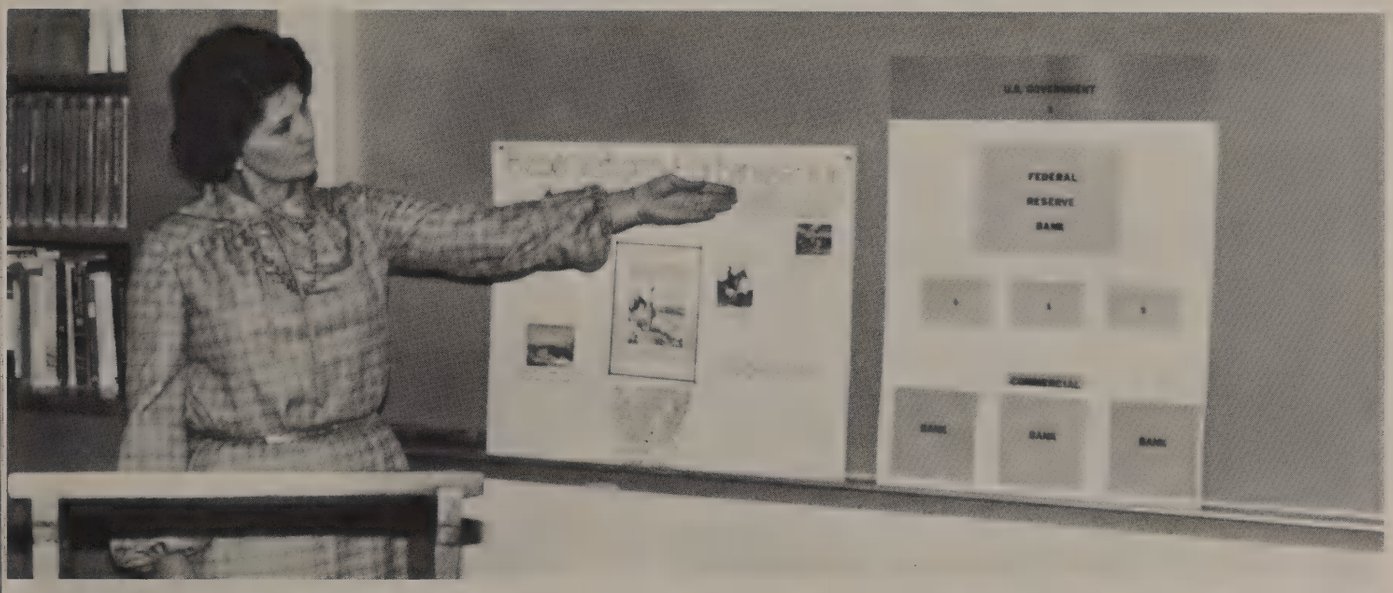

Joke-of-the-day: Mr. Don Brown tells his daily jest relating to history.
Scary scores: Students anticipate their test grades in Miss Vineyard's class.

All bound up: Cathy Fuller, Carrie Freeman, Walt Lightbourn, Noble Nash, and Murphy Martin are defeated by the periodicals.

Signs of the time: Mrs. Sheila Douthit displays student history projects.

Noteworthy items: Eloise Elliot and David Swanson compare notes for a history exam.

New literature, old vocabulary occupy pupils

Spanish level I and II classes continued their yearly struggles with verbs and vocabulary. Miss Karen Thomas' second year students worked on themes involving the difference between the educational system of the United States and Mexico. Mrs. Elenora Guzman's students worked on verbs as well as skits. They also enjoyed a bash at Connie Chantillis' house featuring Spanish dishes. Level IV and advanced placement classes studied classic works written by Spanish authors.

The study of vocabulary, grammar, and short readings were emphasized for first year Latin students. They were also required to research and report on Mythology. Second year students read longer passages and studied more difficult constructions. Greek and Roman plays were studied by third year students. They also read Cicero's orations and philosophy, as well as a detailed account on the destruction of Vesuvius.

The German department this year was led by new teacher, Mrs. Lehman. First year students acquired a knowledge of basic German grammar, while the second year students learned about German culture and composers.

Verb tenses were the main emphasis for French classes at all levels. Third year and fourth year students studied French literature, increasing their knowledge of the language by reading such authors as Racine and Moliere.

Culture shock: Hungry French students, Christy Nichols and Janice Kenyon, explore the cuisine at a local restaurant.
Oui, Mademoiselle: Caroline Thyssen practices her knowledge.

Map skills: Sophomore Bill Davis leads a discussion on Spain, with fellow classmates.

Show and tell: Clarise Chapman discusses mythology in Latin class.

Art courses aid students in future jobs

Fine and practical arts courses aided students in future career choices, and gave students a chance to test their creativity.

Typing students were given the opportunity to look into the business world by typing business letters.

Lads and Lassies choir members presented an informal concert at Northpark shopping center during the Christmas season. Choir members were busy at work for the musical "Guys and Dolls."

Art classes showed their creativity by using pastels, clay, ink, and water colors. Certain art students created their own designs for needle-point and used them for Christmas gifts.

Elementary accounting students were kept busy by distinguishing their debit side from their credit side in homework problems.

Elementary mechanical drawing students used T-squares and triangles while trying to tackle the fundamentals of architectural design. Third year advanced students designed full scale model homes.

Just a pinch: Galloping gourmet Ellen Wiggins adds a little spice to her cornbread.

Skillful sketcher: Senior Lorrie Williams carefully draws a project for art.

Boogie buglers: Band members blow their horns during morning rehearsal.

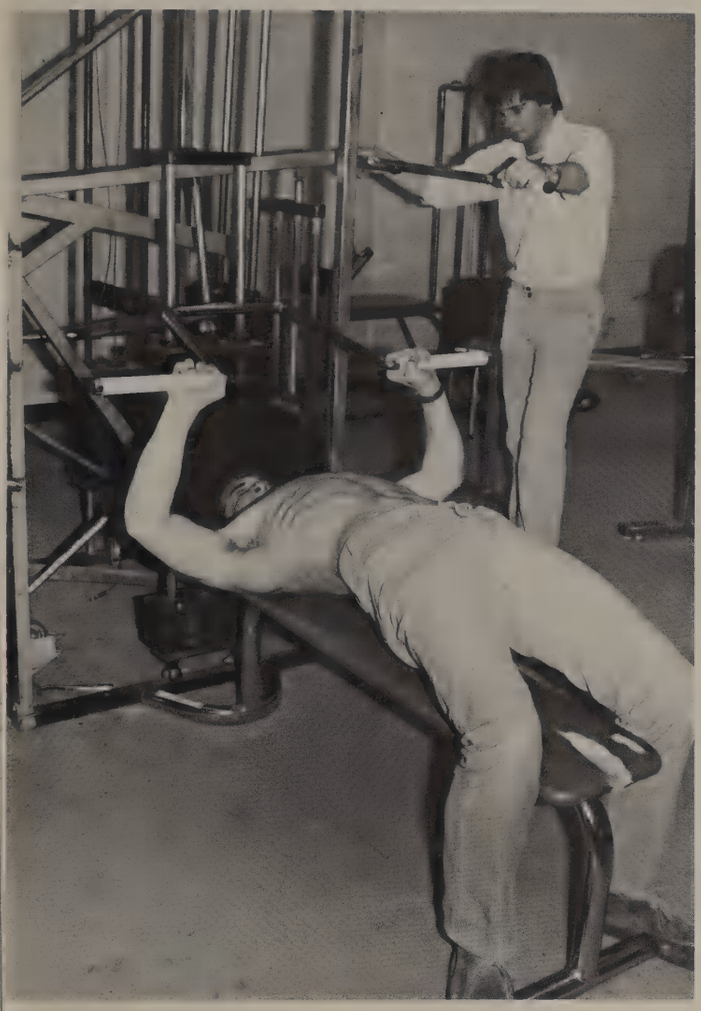

Games create skill, fitness in physical ed

Highlander Stadium began construction early in the year. Meanwhile, students participated in physical education to receive credit for their required five trimesters.

Most freshmen were required to take two trimesters of health. There were many different categories of P.E. from which to choose, including cardiovascular fitness, team sports, and swimming. Some new activities offered were gymnastics, lifesaving, and outdoor sports. With the completion of the new gym, gymnastics classes were available to students. Students learned the techniques of backpacking, fishing, and boating in Outdoor Education classes.

Driver's Education prepared sophomores for their upcoming licenses. Students drove with their instructors before school to acquire their twelve hours of behind-the-wheel. A "swinging" activity offered was square dancing. Scots learned the basic steps while having a good time. In the swimming department, advanced lifesaving attracted the interests of students.

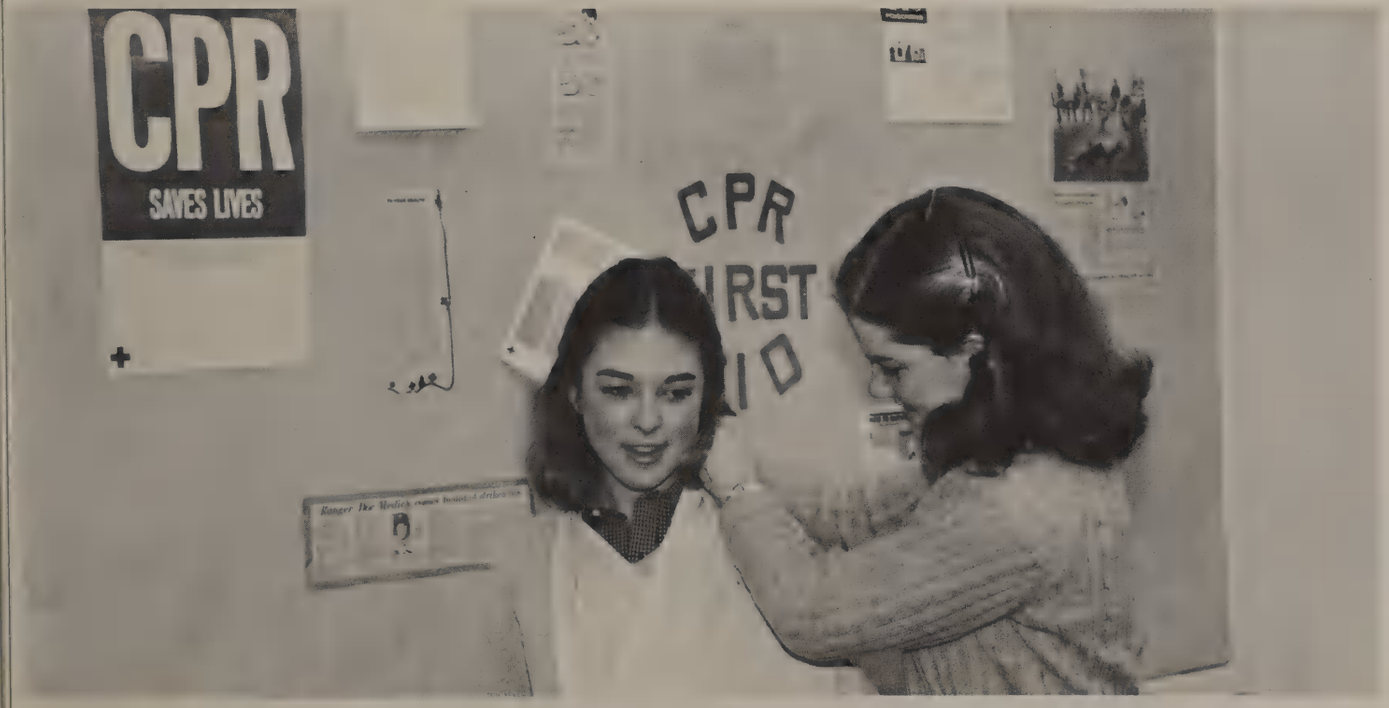

Powerful pusher: Jeff Coker strengthens his muscles on the weight lifting machines while Stephen Barnes contemplates the idea.

I've got it!: Meleah Artley aims at the birdie while Kristi Spikes waits to return it for a winning point.

Ready . . . Catch: Kristen Wiley passes the ball to Beth Moore during PE class.

"Nail biting" season marks Varsity's last year in 13-AAAA

In their second and final year in the infamous district 13-AAAA, the Varsity Footballers closed with a 7-win and 3-loss season. It was only three games before the 1979 Scots became characterized as the "hold-on-to-your-hat-bite-your-nails" football team of the metroplex. Five games of the ten game season were won or lost in the final seconds by differences of four points or less. Handing numerous undefeated teams their first season loss, the seesaw district race also led the Scots to play three state ranked teams consecutively.

The Scots' ability to play under big league pressure was only matched by their effort to cope with diversity. The 100-plus temperatures of Texas Stadium, the move of all home games to SMU's Owenby Stadium, the less than desirable weather and the omnipresent injury plague were but a few of the hardships from which the Gold Machine rebounded. If ever a team rose to the occasion more times and more valiantly, it was the 1979 Scots.

The high powered Scots offense continued its veer related dominance during the season. Signal caller Lance McIlhenny had an eight game total of 1,051 yards, 536 running and 514 passing, scoring nine TD's. Taking the hand-offs from McIlhenny, Tom Burson scampered for an overwhelming eight game total of 1,062 yards. While, on the receiving end, Alex Miller had 17 receptions and Jimmy Porter 14 grabs for a total of 371 yards.

Tough defenders for the "no name" Scot defense were juniors Kit Case, leading tacklers for the second year, Stephen Burgher and Steve McCoy. Seniors Brian DeVaney and David White provided leadership on the field.

Scot sidelines: Intense concentration characterizes the Hi Park Bench as players prepare to do their part.

Onward and upward: Junior Kit Case reaches high for the interception.

Custom tackling: Taylor Snelling drags a Cardinal to the artificial turf.

Varsity Scots lose contest on final pass

Highland Park opened their 1979 season on the hot Saturday afternoon turf of Texas Stadium. Billed as the first High School-College doubleheader in history, H.P. runningback Tom Burson and a punishing defense led the Scots to a 28-7 victory over Irving MacArthur.

The Scots then traveled to Euless Trinity and a tough second half defense handed the Trojans a 16-14 defeat. QB Lance McIlhenny scored first with a 63 yard run of superb individual effort, as Burson, with over 100 yards, added 6 and junior kicker Mike Crow tallied 3.

With two down the Scots moved to district play and state ranked, arch rival, Plano. Before a capacity packed Clark Field, the Gold Machine opened the scoring as McIlhenny went in on a sweep off a Kit Case block. H.P. led 10-6 at the half, but Plano added 8, and the score stood 14-10. The Scots took the ball at their three and moved 97 yards in 10 plays, chewing up 5 minutes of the clock. With 2:53 left it was 17-14 H.P. However, Plano mounted a blitzkrieg drive, and on third-and-6 from the H.P. 19, Plano QB Mullins hurled a Hail Mary pass into the end zone only to be deflected into the arms of a Wildcat receiver for a 21-17 Plano win and a heartbreaking loss for the Scots. Although a disappointment for all, the entire Scotty team had a spectacular game, including Burson's 212 yards rushing, and as Head Coach Bevers put it, "This was as good as we could play."

H.P. defeats league leading rivals in turn

After the loss to Plano, H.P. hosted Lake Highlands at Owenby Stadium. Once again second half defense, led by hardhitting David White and the aggressive Murphy Martin, provided the margin as the offense scored 17 points. Controlling the ball in the final minutes, the Scots won 17-16.

Traveling to Richardson, the close game pressure stifled the Scots throughout the first half. After the break, however, the Scot offense exploded for 233 rushing yards, 14 points and held the ball for 15 minutes. McIlhenny had 118 yards on the ground and 111 in the air behind the blocking of guards Ted Biggers and Chris Rote. Burson again broke the century mark, and the Scots came from behind for the 21-17 victory. Highland Park put it all together against Denison as the H.P. defense dominated, and the offense rolled up the points in the 29-0 win.

Next the Scots met the district leading Greenville Lions. Manning Shannon's late fourth quarter touch down made the score 14-13, but a try for two failed. With 1:12 remaining, the offense, aided by Burson's extra effort, drove to the Lion 24. With time running and no time outs left, Mike Crow kicked the pressured points as time ran out and Scot fans went wild.

Juniors direct fighting Scots in final victory

Against Berkner, the Scots lost both McIlhenny and Burson to season ending injuries. Junior Rob Morschell made a valiant effort to steer the team to victory, but the Scots lost 32-14. The Scots tried a comeback playing Richardson Pearce, but the Mustangs won on a cold and muddy field, 17-9.

However, in the season closeout against Sherman, Scot Pride prevailed. As district hopes faded for the injury plagued Scots, promising junior performances were turned in by Morschell with 3 touchdowns, Shannon, and Case with 157 yards. An unyielding defense grabbed 3 fumbles on the way to a 27-7 victory in the Homecoming game. It was a fitting end to the last of the Scot's hard fought 13-AAAA seasons as H.P. was moved to the 10-AAAAA district for 1980.

Junior Varsity plays tough, finish season with 6-4 tally

Living up to the Highland Park name, the Junior Varsity Scots played an exciting brand of football, as they finished with a 6-4 season record.

Opening the season on a good note, the Scots defeated MacArthur 18-0 with John Bonnet, Bart Bevers and Alex Glasscock scoring touchdowns. The J.V. completed the preseason with a 13-8 victory over Trinity with Vaughn Miller carrying the ball for 147 yards and two touchdowns.

The J.V. form was never better as they began district play. In a tough defensive battle, the young Scots put up a valiant fight, but Plano scored in the final minutes to win 7-0. Miller scored the single touchdown in the 28-6 loss to Lake Highlands.

In a high scoring game against Richardson, Bevers led all rushers with 124 yards and two touchdowns. Bonnet also added two touchdowns in the 44-28 loss. The J.V. bounced back to defeat Denison 13-8 with Bevers and Bonnet scoring touchdowns. Bevers also connected on 6 of 9 passes for 88 yards.

Bevers scored the single touchdown that defeated Greenville 7-0. Rich Roever kicked a 24 yard field goal, and Bonnet led all rushers with 111 yards in the 6-3 loss to Berkner.

Pearce fell to the Scots 9-7 with Roever booting a 23 yard field goal, and Bonnet scoring a touchdown. Bevers gained 109 yards in the victory. Excitement marked the last game of the season as H.P. beat Sherman 21-20. Bevers, Bonnet and Cowden scored touchdowns. Roever converted one extra point, and Bevers combined with Mullinix for a 2 point play.

Also making valuable contributions were Hayes Deville, T. D. Briggs, Casey Goodwin, Mike Holt, Dan Strother, Lee Oden, Craig Kennington, Eddie Snyder and Craig Bailey. Coaches Cecil Holmes, Orville Jones, and Red Ellis led the Scots through the 1979-1980 season.

Frosh Scots provide thrills, 6-3 record

Upholding the winning tradition of Highland Park, the 1979 Freshman Scots finished the season with a 6 win and 3 loss record. The Frosh footballers rebounded from a complete summer coaching change to play exciting and skillful football, never being out of any game until the very end and never losing by more than six points.

At the end of the 1979 spring semester, freshman coach of four years, Dave Emler, along with his assistants John Covin and Randy Smith, all moved to other jobs, and long time eighth grade coach Ray Wadle took the ninth grade helm. Aided by new coach- biology teacher, Ron Van Hooser, and H.P.-ex Jim Castelaw, the young Scots were coached in football basics and provided their fans, as well as their coaches, with reasons to cheer.

Captains Blair Oden, Rusty Anderson and Brian Glasscock led the team, while King Hall, Richard Tuma, Philip Worthen and Todd Mack all made valuable contributions. Others making football headlines included Dan Tomlin, Monty Snyder and Henry Miller. The season, in total, was one in which the freshman class could take pride, as many lessons were learned, and expectations for the next three years rose to new heights.

Tri-captains lead cagers to 27 victories

Winning over 20 games for the tenth time in the last eleven years, the "Running Scots" fast-breaked their way to a 27-5 record.

Under the direction of Coach Bo Snowden and assistant Tom Shelton, the Scots' high-powered offense scored an average of 68 points per game while their aggressive defense allowed only 53 points a game.

Led by Tri-Captains John Briggs, Charlie McKinney, and Larry Showalter, the Scots raced to a 10-3 non-district record, including runners-up honors at the Scot Classic and a strong fourth place finish in the Austin Tournament in December.

Roundballers tie for honors at district half

In District 13-AAAA games, the Scots achieved a 7-1 record in first half play, thus sharing in a three-way tie for first place. In the second half, however, the Scots fell to the Plano Wildcats, who then clinched the district championship.

Leading scorers for the Scots were John Briggs and Buzz Showalter, who averaged 17 and 12 points per game, respectively. Charlie McKinney was the team quarterback, leading the exploding Scot floor game. Other starters included seniors Tod Kimbell, Tad Herrscher, and Scott Canon. Strong bench help came from juniors Robert Martin and Lex Fitzenhagen.

Postman John Briggs took All-Tournament honors at both the Scott Classic and the Austin Tournament. The 6'7" senior was a three year letterman and was a strong candidate for All-District and possibly All-State teams.

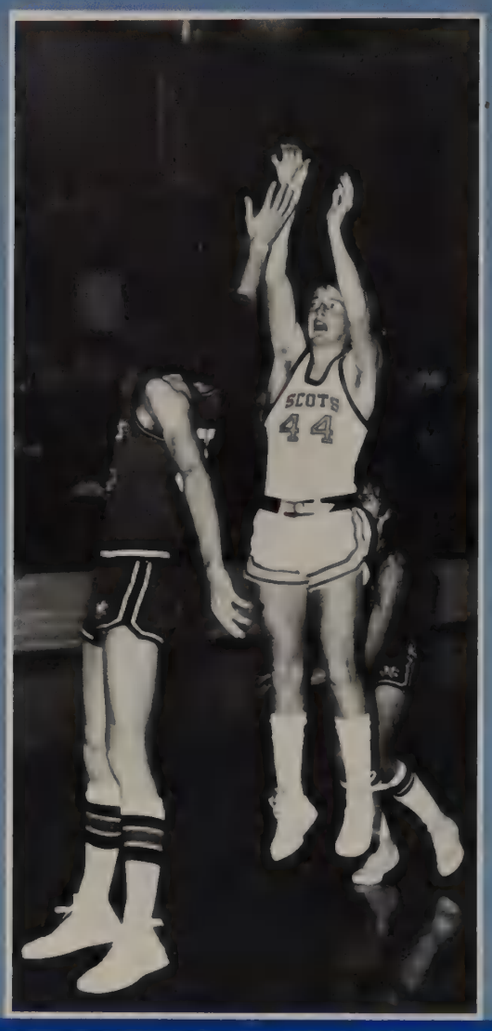

Underclassmen finish season on good note

Under the direction of Coach Tom Shelton, the Highland Park Junior Varsity, fought their way to a very respectable 20-8 record.

Leading the way for the sophomore Scots were Dodge Carter, Billy Delatour, Steve Lyon, and Ben Lange. Carter led the team in scoring, with an average of 16 points a game, while Lyon was the team's leading rebounder.

The Freshman "Gold" team shot their way to a brilliant 22-2 record and the district championship. Coach Ray Van Hooser's frosh were led by guard Dave Reichert and postman Todd Mack.

The Freshman "Blue" team won 15 games and lost five. Included in this record was a victory in district tournament at season's end. Outstanding players were Bart Showalter and Ken Brown for Coach Ray Wadle's team.

Hard workouts carry runners to state meet

Hours spent at White Rock Lake for daily workouts proved valuable as both boys' and girls' cross country teams, coached by Jim Mouser, qualified for the state meet held in Georgetown on December 1.

The hard working boys' team consisting of captain John Guffey, Tom Breedlove, Steve Bullington, Michael Crow, Jim Pirtle, Bill Breedlove and Geza DeGall took top honors at the district and regional meets, and finished the season placing ninth at state.

The girls' team ran to an undefeated season taking first place trophies in all of their meets. Captained by Dana Tinkle, the team of Anne Beall, Mary Leslie Clements, Colleen Doherty, Lynn Hankinson, Wendy Irwin, Ellen Luce and Amy Sexton ran well at the state meet with Mary Leslie Clements placing fourth individually and the team placing fifth overall.

Both junior varsity teams ran well. The girls placed first in all meets, and the boys placed consistently high during the season. Both teams ended the '79-'80 season with first place finishes at the district meet in November.

Cold weather keeps ladies running hard

The girls' track team, coached by Jim Mouser, worked out for two hours every day after school. Neither rain nor snow could stop the ladies as they trudged through practices.

Under the leadership of captains Laurie Dunlap and Dana Tinkle, the team began the 1980 season with a practice meet against Richardson on February 14. Regular season opened in Denton on February 22 with a triangular meet followed by the Highland Park Invitational on March 1. The district meet was held in Mesquite on April 11th and 12th.

New coaches lead tracksters through season

Under the new leadership of coaches Don Richardson and Jim Castellaw, the boys' track team began the 1980 season on February 23 with a meet at Bishop Lynch.

Many hours were spent in daily workouts at Park A. Guiding the team were captains Tom Burson and John Guffey.

Mr. Don Richardson, a varsity football coach and driver's education teacher, directed the team along with Mr. Jim Castellaw, a freshman football coach and history teacher at the middle school.

The district meet was held on Saturday, April 19th in Mesquite.

Small ballers make big hits, throw strikes

Guiding the 79-80 Varsity baseball team were captains Larry Showalter, Andy Nastri, and Tad Herrscher. Along with these three captains, five other seniors contributed to the Varsity powerhouse which began their season officially in February. However, the dedicated Scots began sixth period workouts in January with running, agility drills, and weight lifting.

The Scot teams faced a long season which consisted of ten non-district games, sixteen district games, and two tournaments. The long, challenging season was highlighted by games with HP's rivals — Plano, Lake Highlands, and Denison.

This year's coaching staff, led by Cecil Holmes and Orville Jones, encouraged the small ballers to perform well and gain victories.

Wind up: Allen Williams fires a strike in an afternoon Junior Varsity practice.

Super Scott: Sessions retrieves a long ball and readies his throw to the plate.

Exact passing, tough defense keys to victory

Playing their first game February 18, Scot Soccer got off to a late start for the 1980 season. The varsity, including ten returning lettermen, began practicing before Christmas to prepare for the district race.

Led by captains Trey Angel, Steve Scott, and David Haggart, the Scots were in the running for the district championship. Topping the list of tough competitors were Richardson and Pearce. The key to the Varsity's success was the precision passing and the aggressive defense that was initiated by Coach David Fricke. Standouts for the Varsity were Brad Baker, Tom Pettinger, and Greg Sander, while Javi Millet and Doug Stuart contributed with their aggressive play.

B-Team Scots had experience on their side as they had five returning players. Major contributers for the B-Team included freshman Micky Maguire and sophomore Clay Kennedy. Jamie Bagnall was the manager for both the JV and the Varsity.

Kick the habit: Senior Javi Millet displays a fine example of his aggressive defense.

Varsity coach guides Scots to district wins

Guided by Coach Mindy Simmons, the girls' Varsity had hard workouts in the morning before school to prepare for their third year as a team. The Scots toughest competition for the district crown came from Lake Highlands and Berkner. Having a successful 1980 season, the Scots were led by captains Carrie Delius and Ellen Luce. Other standouts were Adrienne Macatee, Susan Reed, and Shirley Miller.

Returning players provided the experience that was necessary for the B-Team, but it was the freshman girls who contributed the spark. Michelle Coker and Sarah Carr played outstanding defense for the JV. Other freshmen that produced exciting team play were Amy Sexton, Cindy Kennedy, and Dorothy Elliot.

New coaching betters record in 13-AAAA

Beginning the 1979 season with a new coach, Mindy Simmons, and many new players, was the girls volleyball team. The Scots played each team twice and ended the season with five wins and eleven losses.

The captains of the Varsity team were Amy Wise and Tracy Harber. Eleven of the fifteen players were seniors. Captains Kilby Greeves and Chris Williams led the JV team, which consisted mostly of first year players.

The JV and Varsity Scots each participated in two tournaments. The Varsity brought home a consolation trophy from DeSoto and placed fourth in the Kimbell tournament.

Caroline Sharpley was chosen to be on the 1979 All-District girls volleyball team. Honorable mention was given to Scot volleyballer Tracy Harber.

State ranked team players direct squad

Determined to better their third place finish in last year's district tourney, the HP tennis team defeated the previous year's two toughest competitors.

Leading the team was nationally ranked Talbot Davis, who also held the number one spot in boys singles in Texas. Other state ranked team members included Shane Read, 16th, Lyle Sabo, 21st, and Debbie Huitt, 13th in girls singles.

Both the girls and boys teams won regionals in the state team tournament which qualified both squads for the state meet in College Station. The team as a whole finished in the seventh position.

To get in shape for their tough district schedule, the team conditioned themselves with sprints as well as long distance running. Intra-squad matches also filled up practice time to help team members get match play experience.

Tennis coach Mrs. Kay Kyle was assisted in team conditioning by captains Dan Crawford and Kim Gott. The team played tournaments in Dallas, Plano, Duncanville, and Euless, and topped the season with a district tournament on April 10-11.

Ace!: Denise Toole displays her smooth serve at another afternoon practice.

Look at it go!: Charlotte Turner aims down court after a powerful groundstroke.

Watch the birdie: Shane Read keeps his eye on the ball as he concentrates on his next shot.

Scoop shot: Talbot Davis perfects his follow through while propelling the ball across the court.

HP Blue Wave competes, wins swim meets

Scot swimmers were led this year by captains Anne Rose and Craig Clark.

The Scots swam well this season despite many injuries and illnesses and won most of their dual meets, which were held at HP, Trinity, and Plano. The girls won 3 out of 6 meets and the boys finished with a 4-2 record.

The Blue Wave made an impressive appearance at the District and Regional meets. At the Texas Interscholastic Coaches Association North Zone Invitational held at HP, the Scots placed high. Mike Heath, Bruce Hayes, Kim Carson, Michelle Williams, Nancy Scholler, and Liz Larson finished near the top.

At the TISCA Championships held in San Antonio, Bruce Hayes, Mike Crow, Mike Heath, Reed Shawver, Michelle Williams, Anne Rose, Kim Carson, and Nancy Wylie competed and gave outstanding performances.

Wave bye-bye: Scot "Blue Wave" swimmers pass each other during their morning workouts.

Take the plunge: Kim Carson races to victory for the Scot Blue Wave.

Scot golfers swing hard into spring

Once again a prime candidate for the district 13-AAAA after last year's second place finish was the Highland Park Golf team. With co-captains Matt Schooler and Ted Nash leading the way, other district golf teams looked for trouble, as both captains were returning all-district golfers.

The boys practiced at Dallas Country Club during the week and played in tournaments almost every weekend in the spring. The team played in two tournaments in the fall, one at Sherrill Park in Richardson, and another at Pecan Plantation in Ft. Worth. They also participated in the Arlington Invitational February 28 and 29 and the Austin Invitational March 5 and 6, as well as the district meet in April.

The girls' team, also playing at Dallas Country Club, was hurt by last year's graduation, but there were two returning team members, Margie Rush and Mary Anne Crow. Coach Gerald Everitt led both teams.

Sunday drivers: The Scot golf team practices swings and follow-throughs.
Precise putt: Eagle eye, Greg Slaughter, taps the ball into the hole.
Forel: Super Scot golf captain Teddy Nash perfects his drive shot.
Swingin' Schooler: Caught in a sand trap, Matt Schooler tries to slice his way out.

GOLF

GYMNASTICS

Balance beam, parallel bars occupy team

Now in its second year, the gymnastics team, greatly improved since its premier at Highland Park last year. Coach Denis Thornton and Shelly Estes worked with the team daily from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m. preparing them for monthly meets.

The boys, captained by Chris Lallier, competed in the parallel horse, and floor exercises. The girls, captained by Sara Coln, competed in vaulting, uneven parallel bars, the balance beam, and floor exercises.

Team members attended a practice session of the Twentieth World Gymnastics Championship in Fort Worth and watched the Men's and Women's All-Around Finals in December.

FRONT ROW: V. Mansfield, K. Kieffer, T. Tench, E. Coln, J. Keel, D. Thorton, D. Kramer. SECOND ROW: J. Sargent, J. Sanders, S. Dietz, T. Francis, M. McGee. THIRD ROW: K. Cummings, K. Brown, S. Coln, C. Coronado, C. Lallier, J. Ellisor. FOURTH ROW: A. Fuqua, D. Burton, J. Adams, A. Alford, P. Haschke.

Mr. Muscle: Chris Lallier warms up as he practices for a tournament.

Jumping beans?: Missy McGee and Alice Fuqua develop their skills in gymnastics.

Good sense of balance: Karen Cummings concentrates as she balances on the beam.

Thunder thighs: John Lee puts all his strength into leg lifts to enlarge his muscles.

P-I-N-G: Jennifer Hunt overwhelms her opponent with a spin shot as she wins the point.

Gym classes show variety of exercises

Highland Park's P.E. classes included an assortment of sports and activities during the year; cardiovascular training, aquatics, team sports, weight training, outdoor activities, and advanced lifesaving were all featured.

Each student was required to take five trimesters of P.E. There were three mandatory courses. These courses were: cardiovascular training, aquatics, and the fundamentals of team sports. Some students enjoyed P.E. so much they continued it throughout their years at Highland Park.

GYM

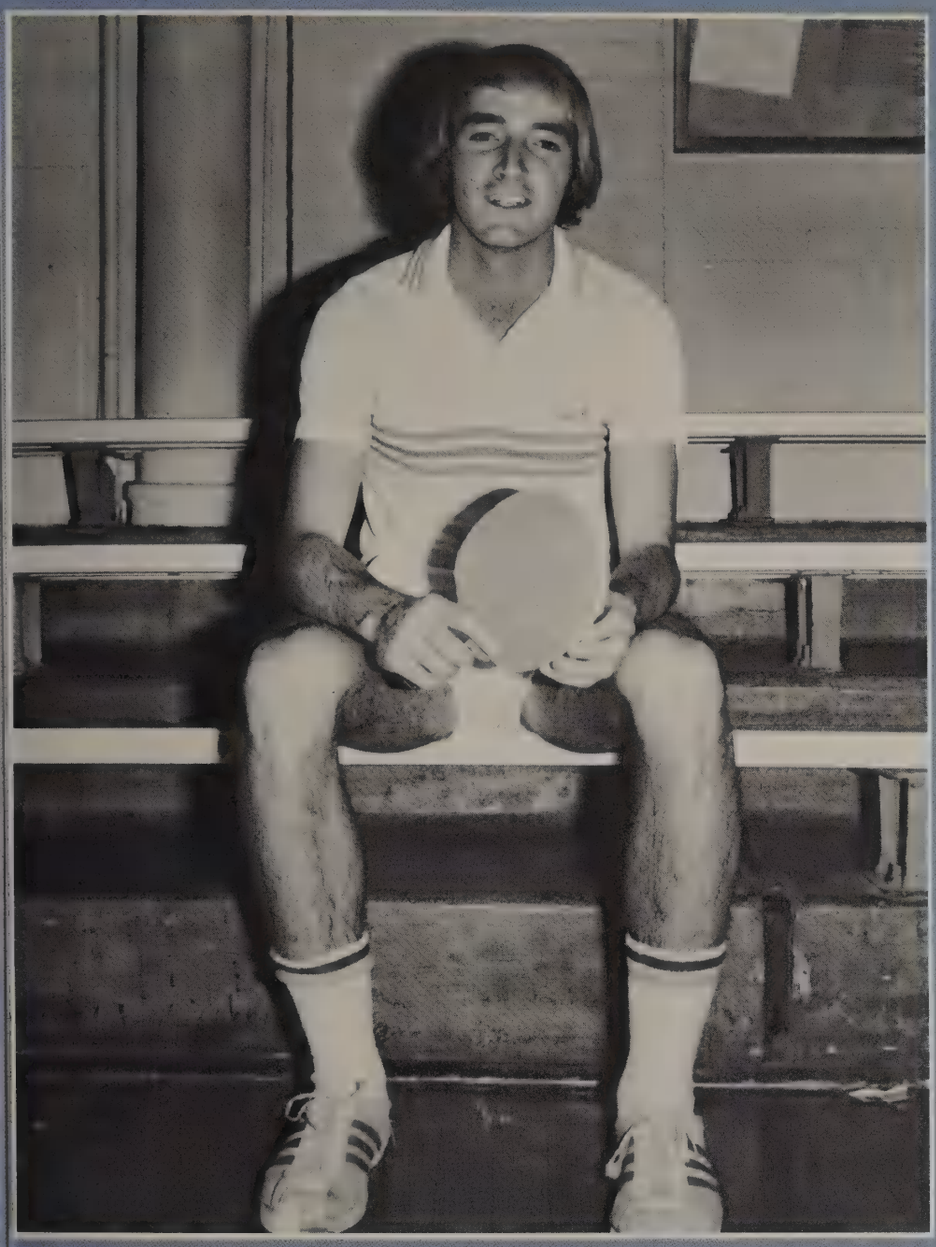

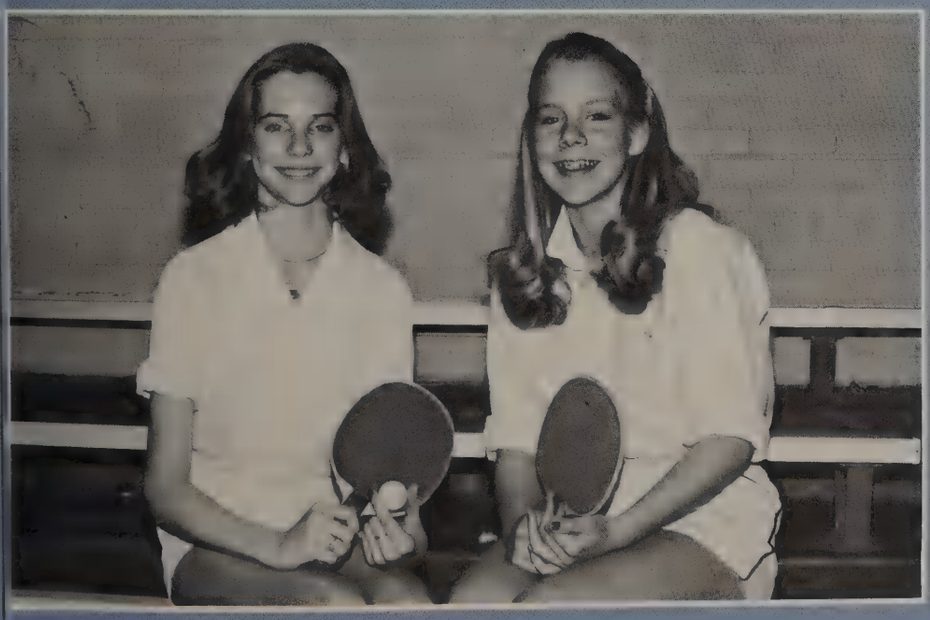

Follow the bouncing ball: Cathleen Kern concentrates on dribbling down the court.

Intramurals offer activity for students

Many students participated in intramurals throughout the school year. The girls were allowed to choose their own teams and one captain. The ninth and tenth graders competed with each other while the eleventh and twelfth graders competed. The winners of the tournament received their team picture in the Highlander.

Mrs. Gwynne Manson and Mrs. Kay Kyle, who teach physical education, were in charge of intramurals this year. Mrs. Manson was a long-time leader while Mrs. Kyle was a newcomer.

In basketball, eleven teams played this year. Double elimination was used in basketball. In badminton, there were nineteen boys' teams and twenty-six girls' teams. The games were played in the morning and after school. In table tennis, the best two out of three games were played. Volleyball, which was played later on in the year, was the most popular intramural.

Even though there were so many other activities in and out of school, Mrs. Manson says, "The girls are just as enthusiastic about intramurals. It gives those who do not play on a school team a chance to be in sports."

Basketball winners: FRONT ROW: M. Stuart, V. Hart, E. Luce, K. Gott, M. Weatherford. SECOND ROW: C. Thyssen, M. Artley, L. List.

Basketball winners: FRONT ROW: G. Emmert, S. Jones, B. Gibbs, S. Reed, E. Thomas, T. Armstrong. SECOND ROW: C. Cain, M. Huck, K. Greeves, K. Gott.

SC occupied with caravans, Supershow

After an election year filled with confusion concerning eligibility requirements, the election rules of the Kiltie were finally revised this year. Under the leadership of Vice President, Stewart Thomas, the Highland Park Improvement Committee worked with Student Council sponsors Cecil Holmes and Ruth Ann Vineyard, the Administration, and Executive committee members to clarify the restrictions and to also prepare the Kiltie for the change to the semester system next year.

The annual Howdy Dance, held for the first time in the new gym, culminated the activities of Howdy Week on September 7. Disco-loving Scots shone under an elaborate light and sound system. Winners of the Super Scot Spy Contest were announced as well as the friendliest boy and girl in each grade.

"Here Comes The Sun" was the theme for this year's Homecoming Dance, held on November 16, with the music of River City. Social Committee heads Tom Burson and Evan Wyly over saw the festivities where Adrienne Macatee was announced Homecoming Queen.

Following approval of the Student Council, President David Davis appointed six seniors to the Executive Committee: Debbie Hollon, Shannan Rodgers, Jenny Sharpe, Ty Snelling, Karen Squibb, and David White. These appointees joined the elected officers in heading committees.

Senior Representative Lex Martin made sure that Student Council functions were well attended as head of Publicity. Treasurer Diane Bergerac filled bus loads of loyal Scot football fans as head of the Caravan Committee.

Suggestions were received by Committee heads, Marcie Kirby and Ty Snelling, concerning anything from cafeteria cleanliness to lack of parking spaces.

Jenny Sharpe and Jon Ladd gave their best wishes to all students every day as heads of the Devotional Committee, while Scrapbook heads, Lane Newsom, Kathleen White and Shannan Rogers, compiled mementos of the Student Council for future generations.

Secretary Ellen Eisenlohr broke previous records and saw that The Clar was published way ahead of schedule. All students were invited to participate in the Student Council Supershow II held in January. Emcees Lex Martin and David Davis guided the audience through various acts ranging from classical music to TV commercial classics, in the annual fund-raising talent show.

Bagpipe staff make changes in publication

Under the direction of co-editors Philip Chalk and Alicia Rubi and co-business managers Kathy Kendrick and John Howard, the Bagpipe began the 1979-80 school year's coverage of the HPHS news.

This year each advisory's Student Council representative would collect the money for the advisory and go to the Bagpipe office and buy the papers. The rep would then distribute them to their advisory members.

Also new this year was a better quality paper and a higher price, 35¢. Along with these changes an addition was made to the Bagpipe's usual publication, a color magazine called The High Road after the old Scottish song. This special section is published at the end of every trimester and costs 45¢.

Honored this year for their journalistic skills were co-editors Alicia Rubi and Philip Chalk and sports co-editor David Swanson. Philip was given a Certificate of Merit from the University Interscholastic League for his cartoon of "Miss Dimms" in the September 17 issue of the Bagpipe, while David and Alicia were honored by the Texas Association of Journalism Directors. David was awarded a third place trophy in sports writing for his sports feature on Mustang Mania, while Alicia received an honorable mention for her editorial on nuclear waste disposal.

Ads, captions help develop 1980 yearbook

Beginning the plans for the 1980 Highlander, co-editors Lisa Corey and Martha Taylor attended a journalism clinic in late July held at SMU and sponsored by Taylor Publishing Company, where they developed the theme and designed many of the introduction and division pages. At the close of the week-long seminar, Lisa and Martha received a first place trophy in copy writing for an article assigned to each of the schools represented.

Work crews for the 52 member editorial staff commenced in mid-September, with the onslaught of writing copies, captions, and headlines, setting up pictures, and planning layouts. Associate co-editors Tricia Buddendorf and Cathy Fuller learned the basic journalistic rules and techniques by assisting the editors. Head photographers Anne McConnell and Houston Holmes spent countless hours snapping shots. The final and long anticipated deadline was reached on February 22.

The business staff, led by advertising managers Ann Aston and Ellen Wiggins, became familiar faces to the business establishments around Dallas as they ventured forth to sell ads. As ever, over 100 parents of seniors bought ads congratulating their children on graduation. At the end of the ad campaign, 115 pages of ads had been sold and 19 advisories went 100 percent on yearbook sales.

Taking a breather from work crews and deadlines, the combined staffs exchanged gag gifts and enjoyed a variety of desserts at the Christmas party held at Lisa Corey's house.

The 1980 Highlander was sponsored by second year advisor Miss Katherine Carpenter and by business assistant Miss Gladys Bradshaw.

Round Table debates topics of importance

Round Table Club met twice a month to debate and explore views on important world topics.

Many of the discussions were on an international level, and the students became involved in the Iranian crisis. Rather than debating this issue, the students shared their views on how the U.S. government should act in this situation. Other discussions included the election and the Afghanistan invasion.

The club was sponsored by Mrs. Sheila Douthit and under the leadership of chairman Hilary Srere and secretary Vicky Hexter.

Round Table had their annual November initiation breakfast at dawn. The party took place at White Rock Lake, where members fought the chill with coffee and doughnuts, welcomed new members, and exchanged ideas on foreign policy.

Club members hold tourney, give dance

Leo Club members began their activities with a trip to the Dallas Sportatorium to see Willie Nelson in concert.

In mid-February club members held their annual bowling tourney at the Cotton Bowling Palace. John Walter walked away with all first place awards, as additional funds were "entrusted" to Treasurer Brian DeVaney.

"Superior Elevation" provided the music for the Leo Club dance at the Dallas City Club. Former members, along with all current clubsters, attended the dance, which was organized by President David White, Vice-President Lance McIlhenny, and Secretary George Poston.

The Board of Directors, who contemplated a myriad of mind-boggling decisions, were led by none other than Steve "Baby" Burgher. Burgher also found himself the target for fines and other embarrassing moments, as imposed by tailtwister Rusty Ross. Other board members included Dan Tubb, Noble Nash, Buzz Showalter, Teddy Nash, Ty Snelling, and John "Benedict" Walter.

Sponsors for this year's Leo Club were Mr. Gerald Smith and, in his first year as sponsor, Mr. Dennis Thornton.

Religious talks interest FCA, spread beliefs

Growing exceptionally larger in membership this year was the boys' chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. The group achieved their goals of increased help to their community.

The principal fund raising project was selling programs at football games. Profits were then used for movies, tapes, and books to expand the FCA library.

Guest speakers came and spoke about Christian influence in athletics. During other bi-weekly meetings, the members discussed their relationships with Christ.

The 1979-1980 FCA officers included: Tom Burson, president; Kit Case, vice-president; Steve Burgher, treasurer; and Cliff Alexander, secretary. The Fellowship of Christian Athletes was led by Mr. Bo Snowden.

FCA election opens third year for club

Marking its third year at Highland Park, Girls Fellowship of Christian Athletes began the year with election of officers. Ellen Luce was elected president. Other officers were Vice-President Ellen Wiggins, Secretary-Treasurer Dana Tinkle, and Chaplain Suzanne Shirley.

The club enjoyed listening to chosen speakers. They sponsored a gymnastics exhibition as well as a canned food drive. Another worthy cause of the group was that of a "Big Sister" program, in which a group of girls spent time with an underprivileged child each week.

The three-year old club has grown into one of the largest clubs at Highland Park with membership increasing each year.

Spirit squad sells stickers, makes posters

Spirit Committee members spent a busy summer making posters to support the athletes for the coming year.

Heading the committee were seniors, Debbie Hollon and Meg O'Connell; junior, Charlie Cregor, and sponsor, Mrs. Gynne Manson.

Along with selling the traditional blue and gold bumper stickers, the committee sold programs at the MacArthur-Highland Park football game at Texas Stadium.

The money raised from these fund-raising projects paid for the paper, balloons, paints, tape, and streamers which were used to decorate the boy's gym for the pep rallies. The money also financed the ice cream party which the Spirit Committee held in the spring to begin the year.

After a successful year, the committee showed their appreciation to Mrs. Manson by giving her a bouquet of yellow roses at the last pep rally of the year.

Club members share stories, past vacations

Travel Club members shared memories of 1979 ventures in fascinating areas of the world.

John Larkin told of his experiences at a Boy Scout camp in New Mexico. He brought equipment used for backpacking, explaining the detailed techniques used in the activity. Most of the time at camp was spent backpacking which John described as hard but fun!

Leah McGowin retold tales of her vacation in Jamaica. She basked in the sun, swam in the clear water, and met the people of the island.

Mark Bulloch brought pictures of the Teton mountain range which he described as rising straight up, with cold lakes and waterfalls. He said that the Tetons run through Yellowstone National Park in Wyoming, creating an enjoyable scene.

Speech team hosts tourney, debates topics

Under a new coach, Mrs. Ann Miley, the speech team was caught up in a bustle of dialogues, oratories, and tournaments.

The team was best described as extremely active. They traveled to several tournaments, and the advanced speech team hosted the Highland Park Forensic Fling in the Fall.

This year three debate teams were added to the curriculum. All of these teams did well and those teams led by Parnell McCarter and Jim Rardin went to elimination rounds in two tournaments.

Nine students from the 30-member team accumulated enough points to qualify for the National Forensic Fling. These nine members were Doug Wright, Jeff Sargent, Stephanie Staley, Stephanie Jackson, Marla Waak, Jim Rardin, Hilary Jordan, Parnell McCarter, and Constance Adams.

Doug Wright also went to a state tournament for a first place win in Dramatic Interpretation.

Key club mugs provide group with income

Key Club, in continuation from last year, sold mugs for $3, a drop in price from last year's $3.50. Under the leadership of Mr. Jimmy Lee the Key Club participated in their annual projects of caroling with Hi-Lite officers, attending Kiwanis Club luncheons, and organizing the leadership breakfast, with Dallas Morning News columnist, Skip Bayless, as speaker.

Stephen Barnes provided the club with an interesting film he produced earlier in the year. Philip Chalk, club cartoonist, helped in finding the speaker for the leadership breakfast.

This year's officers were President Philip Chalk; Vice President Stephen Barnes; Treasurer Steve Forman; Secretary David Ede; and Program Chairman Todd Farrell.

Hi-Lite dance, tea, programs enhance year

Getting the year off to a great start, Hi-Lites had their annual Big Sister-Little Sister Picnic at Williams Park.

While the girls were getting acquainted, they listened to music provided by officers Karen Squibb and Tina Smith. Lex Martin also entertained the girls with his impersonation of Mister Rodgers. At the close of the picnic the girls met the Varsity Cheerleaders and the Hi-Lite officers.

Mothers and their daughters were invited to the Mother-Daughter Tea, October 28, at the home of Jenny Sharpe.

"Pajama Party" was the theme of Hi-Lites' fall dance. Girls brought their dates dressed in granny gowns, night shirts, and footie-pajamas. Newly crowned Hi-Lite King, George Poston, was kissed by President Tina Smith.

Hi-Lite officers and Key Club members went caroling during the Christmas season. Red Cross vice-president Karen Squibb and Welfare vice-president Susan Hughston volunteered the officers and Hi-Lite members to help the March of Dimes campaign.

Thursday meetings provided entertainment like an exercise demonstration, a style show featuring yester-year fashions, and interesting speakers like Russ Moxley.

Mrs. Grace Parrish guided the 12 officers until her retirement in December. Mrs. Linda Raya and Mrs. Pam Bush became the new acting sponsors for Hi-Lites at that time.

Annual picnic, local concerts occupy L&L

Led by officers Kris Beck, Ted Biggers, Catherine Carter, Charlotte Calhoun, Steve Chupik, Sallie Ingle, Nancy Morgan, Meg O'Connell, Elizabeth Slover and Stewart Thomas, the 1979-80 Lads & Lassies choir opened their year with the annual picnic held at Lee Park. The choir members and their dates were entertained by the talents of fellow members which included excerpts from the musical, "Chicago," a song by John Denver, and a skit portraying a typical day of rehearsal.

Fund-raising efforts throughout the choir provided the group with new uniforms. Floor length sleeveless black dresses and black tuxedos added a new flair to the overall appearance.

The Christmas season kept the choir busy with concert performances for the UT-Dallas Sigma Alpha Iota Music Sorority, The Park Cities Rotary Club, and the Highland Park United Methodist Church. Winding up the season, the choir participated in the annual caroling through the Park Cities followed by a Christmas party.

"Guys and Dolls" debuted as the year's musical starring Catherine Carter as Sarah Brown; Lex Martin as Nathan Detroit; Lucy Morrison as Adelaide; and Cameron Smiley as Skye Masterson. Performances were held January 31 through February 2. Continuous rehearsals were held for the choir in preparation for their participation in the U.I.L. contest held February 2. Both the full choir and girls choir participated in the contest.

The school year ended on a good note with the annual spring concert and Lads & Lassies Banquet.

Choir enjoys new dresses, music, fun

Getting started with new dresses, and some new faces, the Revelaires choir was faced with a hectic schedule of events throughout the year.

Singing for a group of senior citizens at the University Park Methodist Church and Christmas caroling for various residents, followed by a party, were some of the events in which the girls participated.

Many members took part in the winter musical "Guys and Dolls," but still found time to practice for the University Interscholastic League solo and ensemble contest.

Kim Holmes headed the choir as president with Stephanie Frnka as vice-president, Karen Cummings as secretary, Debbie Reichert as treasurer, and Jennifer Carter as historian. Barbara Armstrong and Lisa Hosford acted as librarians for the choir.

Fund raising finances Band holiday dance

Highland Park Band of 1979-1980 marched their way through SMU's Ownby Stadium and on to honors in state competition at the U.I.L. Marching Contest.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Robert Jordan, members participated in many contests throughout the year. The H.E.B. Contest was held in October, where the group received a second division rating. Also on the agenda was the U.I.L. Marching Contest. Here the band also received a second division rating. Four members advanced to All-Region, including Jonah Winter, Dekel Shiloh, Bruce Singleton, and Kathy Hemple.

Members raised money by selling cookbooks for $4.95. Each of the band members donated a recipe to the book. The band was a vital part of every pep rally and football game. On December 21, the band had their annual Christmas dance.

Officers included President, Jonah Winter; Vice President, Allan Gahagan; Secretary, Cindy Ball; Treasurer, Anthony Masterson; Publicity-Historian, Sara Freeman; Social Chairman, Mary Mobley; and Librarian, Cathy Black. Co-equipment managers were Rhett Steen and Daryl Scott. The drum major was Scott Stephenson, assisted by Robert Moore.

Many concerts keep orchestra in tune, rhythm

Mr. Arlington Judefind, with the help of student teacher Adrianne Voirin, directed the Hi-Park orchestra members during a busy 1979-1980 year.

Several musicians earned the honor of being selected for the All-Region Orchestra. Doug Goldman, Sarah Titus, Julia Noell, Kathy Sturgeon, Robbie Leftwich, Hilary Srere, Karen Biehl, Don Rowe, and Lisa McHam were the All-Region members with Robbie Leftwich being chosen for All-State Youth Orchestra, and Don Rowe being chosen for the All-State Symphonic Orchestra.

The holiday season was busy for orchestra members who participated in several concerts at libraries, churches, and schools. The musicians entertained teachers at the annual Faculty Christmas party.

Elected officers Hilary Srere, president; Karen Biehl, vice-president; Patrick Smith, treasurer; and Sara Coln, secretary, arranged concerts and fund-raising activities.

Other officers included Historian David Hoover; Librarian Jenni Sturhan; Publicity Manager Lisa McHam; and Equipment Manager Brad Baker.

Members earn international drama ranking

Highland Park Thespian Club, a group for those interested in dramatics, found 1979-80 to be a successful and innovative year. Under sponsors Mrs. Linda Raya and Mr. Dennis Day, the club aimed at involving a greater number of members in activities both inside and outside school. Officers concentrated on bringing new opportunities for participation to members, requiring that each student earn one "point" per trimester to retain membership.

A banquet was held in December at the home of member-at-large officer Cynthia Jones. The officer's skit and dinner entertained the club, and eleven members who had earned the rank of International Thespian were initiated in a candlelight ceremony.

In a pioneering effort, this year's club brought a touring company from Stephen F. Austin University to the Highland Park stage. Members housed the traveling actors overnight after their performance of You Can't Take It With You on January 17. Also in January, eleven Thespians journeyed to Houston to attend a state convention where officers Lex Martin, Doug Wright, and Vicky Hexter performed a one-act play. Special theatrical workshops were offered to the visiting Thespians.

The annual Thespian show was held in May under the direction of the club sponsors and was enjoyed by all.

Girls dance, practice pipes, seek awards

Clad in authentic Scottish attire, the Highland Park Lassies worked hard this year with their traditional piping and dance. The Lassies began their strenuous practices in the summer with senior girls teaching the new freshmen techniques in dancing and piping.

The Lassies played at all pep rallies and half-times during the football season. Shannon Hughston danced with agility on the drum at the games as well.

Some of the girls competed in Scottish competition throughout Texas. They include: Colleen Sweeny, Maureen Sweeny, Mary Moore, Maria Sogandares, Cathy Black, Shannon Hughston, Janice Mitchell, Kimberly Culbertson, Kim Scott, Beth Weeden, and Kathy Hemphill.

In the spring, the Lassies visited the Middle School to recruit new girls for the following school year.

Officers for 1979-1980 were Commander Susan Swarner, Co-Dance Majors Lynn Martin and Colleen Sweeny, Co-Pipe Sergeants Angela Jordon and Holly McGuire, and Pipe Major Cathy Hay.

Investments, market trends "interest" club

Getting off to a solid start this year was the newly formed Highland Park Commodities Club with the goal of having its members learn about stocks, commodities, and other investment strategies. Membership was restricted to seniors only.

Funds were obtained from patron's support and money-making activities. Club members worked collectively to decide on how to invest the money by studying stock market trends and other investment alternatives.

A group trip to the Mike Follett Rare Coin Company and a lecture by a guest speaker were some of the club's other major activities. Valuable experience was gained through practicing hypothetical investment situations.

Mrs. Marilyn Peper, HP algebra teacher, sponsored the club while Mark Williamson, the club's founder, served as president. Other offices included: Clark Shannon, vice-president; Laurie Parrish, secretary; and David Muir, treasurer.

Q&S members throw a party on Valentines

In May of their Junior year, Seniors that met proper qualifications were admitted into the literary honor society, Quill and Scroll. Qualified students must have served on a publications staff for at least two trimesters, obtained a recommendation from their sponsor, and be in the upper third of their class.

President, Alicia Rubi; Vice President, Lisa Corey; Secretary, Lynn Mount; and Treasurer, Lisa Gilhart, were chosen in fall elections supervised by sponsor Mrs. Rayburn Meyers. Social co-chairmen Martha Taylor and Ellen Eisenlohr organized the Quill and Scroll Valentine Party held in mid-February.

AFS students support travel by bond sales

The American Field Service slowly grew to the largest foreign exchange student program in the United States. The Highland Park AFS club, one of the largest organizations in the school, worked hard to support their two foreign exchange students: Australian Ian Petit who lived with the Fred Kahns, and Pontus Svenson, from Sweden, who stayed with the Bill Pettingers.

The club, led by Kris Beck, President; Stephen Barnes, Vice President; Jenny Sharpe, Secretary; and Andrea Kahn, Historian; made a special effort to encourage all HP'ers to support the exchange students and to become their friends. Promotion of fun and friendship within the club were the main goals of AFS, and the officers stressed that it was the student's responsibility to make the year as memorable as possible for Ian and Pontus.

The club also supported four students from Highland Park in the "Americans Abroad" program which sent applicants to live, either for three months or a year, in a foreign country. Highland Park '79 graduates Patti Gruber, Daphne Lewis, and Sarah Pierce spent the summer in South America, while Karen Johnson lived the year in Finland.

To raise money to sponsor and send students through AFS, the club sold Friendship Bonds at the Open House on September 19 and sold the annual AFS carnations on Valentine's Day. The club also sponsored an AFS International Day on November 7, during which AFS students throughout the Dallas Area visited H.P.H.S. and attended classes.

Sponsors of AFS were English teachers Mrs. Pamela Bush, Miss Cathy Orr, and Mrs. Priscilla Fish, who helped organize and direct the club in its many activities.

Biology Club probes, learns life sciences

Boosted by a large group of energetic freshmen, the Biology Club continued its traditional projects and pursued further knowledge of the life sciences.

The club, under the supervision of Mrs. Ethel Forman and Mrs. Roxanne Leitner, once again posted the football scores in their courtyard as well as providing inspirational scenes for the athletes on the same day. The group also erected a Christmas tree for the holiday season.

The future biologists also had on their agenda the first full-length motion picture to be shown at Highland Park for money raising purposes on the afternoon of Valentine's Day. Other projects planned were a spring break trip to the coast and a showing at a marine biology symposium at Texas A&M University in March.

New sponsor, products give DECA profit

New goals and a new teacher headed the 1979-80 DECA program at Highland Park. The group had more than thirty members this year composed mainly of juniors and seniors.

Distributive Education Clubs of America attracted career-minded students because of the benefits of on-the-job training at an approved place of business. Mrs. Earnistine Motley, DECA sponsor, helped her students with any problems encountered on their jobs. Most of the students worked at restaurants, offices, and retail stores around the North Dallas area. Elizabeth Chapman and Brad and Bryan Poole worked at the Sample House shops, while Elizabeth Prichartt continued her well-established job as a checker at the Tom Thumb near the high school.

In the fall, members sponsored the DECA-deli set up during the Highland Park speech tournament. The group also sold out of the new spirit pins. The buttons were new this year because they featured a varsity football player's picture on it, giving the students a choice over which player to support.

The DECA officers who led the group in its activities were: president Rob Moore; vice-president Kelly Israel; secretary Elizabeth Pritchartt; treasurer Reed Cheesborough; reporter-photographer Rita Hanson; parliamentarian Laura Muncey; historian Karen Israel.

Cheerleaders support, lead athletic events

Leaflets reading "This is the year of the Scots" lined the cars and store windows of local shopping centers and were the initial spirit booster of the Varsity, B-team, and freshman cheerleaders. Much of the spirit was generated at SMU cheerleading camp where the three squads won a total of five spirit sticks.

With the help of sponsor Mrs. Elysia Holt, Varsity cheerleaders Liz Feld, David Ede, Michelle Jones, Nelson Bell, Adrienne Macatee, Todd Farrell, Alison Stone, and George Poston planned various activities for raising spirit and money. Major events included a volleyball tournament, decorating cars with blue and gold tempera-paint, and an all-school picnic before a football game.

Also participating in raising spirit were B-team cheerleaders Gigi Alexander, Anne Beall, Katie Hutchison, Stephanie Jones, Jill McGowin, and Claire Squibb, under the guidance of Ms. Judith Bushart. They organized girls to support the JV players by decorating their houses and lockers.

Freshman cheerleaders were Kathy Carpenter, Gretchen Cowden, Kelley Hill, Cynthia Love, Beth Moore, Jennifer Price, Allyson Smith, and Kristen Wiley, sponsored by Ms. Beth Ann Parmley.

Adventurous club members relate stories

Over one hundred members interested in canoeing, hunting, and camping comprised the Field and Stream Club this year.

The group, consisting of girls as well as boys, watched movies and listened to members relate their hunting stories. Kirby and Brandon Wynn went bow hunting in New Mexico and Colorado, while other members roughed it camping out at John McDonald's farm.

The club held a paid assembly featuring a movie on kayaking in order to raise money for a field trip in the spring.

The 1979-1980 officers were Brandon Wynn, president; Kirby Wynn, vice-president; John McDonald, secretary; and Pat McCabe, treasurer. Sponsors were Mr. Jimmy Lee and Mr. Ben Tyler.

Students train for tourneys, examinations

Preparing for math contests was the main concern of Mu Alpha Theta Club this year.

In November, club members participated in the Fifth Annual Richardson Math Tournament. Although the team placed first in elementary algebra, the team came in fourth in the overall standings. During February, the club competed in the Houston Math Contest and the Dallas Baptist College contest. Club members also attended the Southern Methodist University and The Hockaday School contests.

The Math Club sponsored the annual High School Mathematics examination held on March 4. Each year, the high scorer on this exam receives the Math award. High scorers also have the chance to be chosen as members of the U.S. Math Olympic Team.

In her second year at HP, Mrs. Julia Sutcliffe guided and sponsored the club, with officers: Anthony Masterson, president; Michele Butler, vice-president;Marc Taubenfeld, secretary; and Hilary Srere, treasurer.

Club members pick and grin, host assembly

Among other things, 1980 brought Guitar Club its sixth year of existence. The 25 member club strummed through another year under the guidance of Dr. Lawrence Puckett.

Club members gathered every two weeks to "hear each other pick and watch each other grin," as Dr. Puckett said. Occasionally, guest speakers would come to entertain and advise the eager audience.

In the spring the club hosted its annual assembly. Interested students gathered to hear everything from classical to rock music.

For Guitar Club, 1980 proved to be an eventful year. Members attributed this fact to President Matt McShane and Vice-President Mark Mills, who worked to increase membership and inspire interest in music.

More members enlarge club, excite sponsor

Parlez-vous francais? Oui! responded all the members of the French Club this year, in its sixteenth year of existence at Highland Park.

Miss Eilleen Steensen, the club's sponsor, was happy to observe an increase in membership to 31 from last year's 12.

During advisory meetings the students had a chance to talk to friends in French and play games such as French Bingo. "Speaking a language other than English is difficult," said member Chris McConnel, "but challenging."

To raise money for their Highlander picture, the French Club challenged and defeated the German Club in an exciting, but rewarding game of basketball.

This year's French Club officers were President Shane Read; Treasurer Kathy Sturgean; Program Chairman Long Dang; and Athletic Director David Swanson.

Spanish fans hold cook-off, play volleyball

Under the guidance of sponsor Mrs. Elysia Holt, the Spanish clubs "A" and "B" of last year combined to make one club with fifty members from all classes.

Meetings of the Spanish Club on the second and fourth Wednesdays of every month were presided over by three-year President, David Ede. Other officers were Vice President, David White; Secretary, Lisa McMurray; Treasurers Debbie Sharpe and Tucean Webb; and Program Chairmen, Alicia Rubi, Suzanne Shirley, and Karen Squibb.

Many special activities were planned this year by the Spanish Club. In November the club held its second annual Guacamole Cook-Off with the winners collecting the entry fee as prizes. The aspiring Spaniards sought to better their knowledge of the language by having their Christmas Party at a local Mexican restaurant.

But the Spanish Club did more than eat this year. On one occasion, the entire club took orphans on a skating outing. They were also entertained at a meeting by international businessman, Mr. Carl Tyson, who spoke on the importance of foreign language. For just plain fun, the Spanish Club, with its undefeated volleyball team, challenged the other clubs to a game.

Club members play soccer enjoy victory

"Sprechen Sie Deutsch?" Twenty-five German clubbers answered "Ya" to the question, "Do you speak German?"

Members attended the annual Novemberfest at W. T. White High School to prove their proficiency in the German game of soccer.

Besides the Novemberfest, club members participated in other activities, such as a dueling game of basketball with the French Club, and an annual Christmas party.

Students who were taking German, and those interested in the language, joined the club. In addition to discussing German influences in America, club members learned more about customs, foods, and traditions that exist in Germany today.

The meetings were held on the first and third Wednesdays of each month. Roy Coffee served as president; Karen Marsh, vice-president; Jonathan Ladd, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Evelyn Lehman, led the club as sponsor.

SPQR reads Roman tales, studies history

"When in Rome," as well as in SPQR with Mrs. Dorothy Blankenship, "do as the Romans do." The enthusiastic Latin Club was composed of mainly underclassmen and juniors. Bi-weekly meetings were filled with Roman talks, videotapes, and songs of Roman culture.

Several of the club's members attended a regional convention at Jesuit Preparatory School on December 1. Participants studied and discussed the history and use of the Latin language, as well as participating in races and various games. The members who placed were juniors Doug Wright and Bruce Curll.

In the spring, the club held a Roman banquet where they feasted on several varieties of Italian foods that were prepared by the students.

New sponsor begins year, assists Club

With a new sponsor, the Photography Club began the 1979-80 school year with ideas for meetings and a new approach to the activities of the club.

The purpose of the club is to bring together students with an interest in photography to learn from each other and improve their skills.

This year's officers, President, Bonnie O'Rourke and Vice Presidents D. J. Emanuelson and Joe Binford, along with new sponsor, Miss Norma J. Fries, planned the activities for the club. Along with the weekly meetings, the group staged an inner-club photography contest which gave the members a chance to display their photographic skills.

Other events in the planning for the club in the '79-'80 year were a workshop by the more experienced members to pass on their knowledge to the beginners and an all-school paid assembly featuring shots of Highland Park students in their "natural habitat" taken by photography club members.

Tartan board chooses art, poetry, prose

The main purpose of this year's 1979-80 Tartan was to publish the best quality magazine possible at the lowest possible price. Board members tried to get more people to submit their work to the Tartan.

Fourteen members of the Literary Board chose the pieces that went in this year's Tartan. The pieces had to receive a vote of at least fifty percent of the board to be accepted. Next came the final re-evaluation to screen the remaining pieces.

Printers of Dallas, Inc., printed the Tartan this year. The Literary Board decided on the entire printing process. The Tartan went on sale at Open House. Money was also raised by sponsoring an assembly that featured "Control," a punk rock group.

Officers included Bruce Singleton, Chairman; Jonah Winter, Co-chairman; Hilary Jordan, Secretary; and Doug Wright, Treasurer. Mrs. Dorris Warburton sponsored the Literary Board, while Mr. James Carter sponsored the Art Board. Miss Paula Duckworth aided the magazine's Special Art Board.

Honor Society initiation rites induct eight

On October 23rd the National Honor Society initiated eight new members in a candle lighting ceremony, to bring the total membership to 48.

Officers Ellen Eisenlohr, President; Ty Snelling, Vice President; Ann Aston, Secretary; and Alicia Rubi, Treasurer, were assisted by their new sponsor, Miss Cathy Orr. In December they organized the NHS Christmas party which was held at Hilary Srere's house. In the spring another party was held to welcome the spring initiates into the Society.

Eligibility for membership in NHS was determined by ratings on scholarship, leadership, service, and character. Each member held a 7.0 grade point average for three consecutive trimesters before initiation until graduation. Also, the students were evaluated by their teachers in the areas of leadership, service, and character. If the student was given a seven in each category, he was invited to join the Society.

At the Honors Assembly on May 23, the National Honor Society presented the Blanket Award to one boy and one girl to recognize their outstanding leadership, scholarship, achievement, and service.

Military Club cares for flag, visits stations

Military Service Corps, a new club, was formed this year for students interested in the United States' services. The group's sponsor was Mr. Dave McElwee. According to Mr. McElwee, the group's main concern was to "foster an interest in matters related to national security."

The club watched movies and heard speakers tell about our national defenses. In the fall, former Highland Park graduates, Dale Walter and Arvin Combs, came and spoke about Annapolis and West Point respectively. In the spring, the group planned field trips to the area naval air stations and to Ft. Hood. One job performed by members was raising and lowering the flag each morning in front of the school.

The club officers were: Chip Vokey, commanding officer; Colby Vokey, executive officer; Lea Hassard, operations officer; and Ley Bell, administration-training officer.

FBLA places high, competes at convention

Sponsored by Miss Mary Ann Coppedge, Future Business Leaders of America experienced its first year as a club at Highland Park. Officers were President Chuck Coronado, Vice-President Elizabeth Naylor, Treasurer Evan Wyly, Secretary Michelle Kesner, and Reporter Lynne Martin. The officers planned many activities for the bi-monthly meetings, including guest speakers, field trips, and parties. F.B.L.A. sponsored a fund raising assembly which featured a gymnastics exhibition.

Some of the members competed in the District Leadership Convention. The top finishers were Diane Peobody, fifth place in office procedure; Todd Farrell, second place in business law; and Evan Wyly, first place in economics. A few of the members went on to compete in the State Leadership Convention.

Officers: S. Forman, L. Keele, A. Coleman, M. Smith.

Sailing crew glides through its first year

For the first time at Highland Park High School students who were interested in sailing were given the opportunity to gather and discuss this new and growing sport.

Coach Wayne Johnson undertook the responsibility of guiding the 25 member club through its beginning year.

Although sailing is not usually thought of as a winter sport, the sailing club satisfied their needs through guest speakers, films, and slide shows. Plans for spring regattas as well as off shore cruises were discussed at the meetings. As one senior helmsman, Steve Forman, put it, plans for the new year were "sailing right along."

Club officers Murray Smith, Ann Coleman, Lee Reele, and Jenni Sturhahn helped organize the varied activities that took place during the 1979-1980 school year.

Days spent in park create adventure for HP freshmen

After conquering their fears of the high school with its student commons, crowded hallways, and the bell system, the freshmen quickly adapted to their surroundings.

Mary Sowell and Alvin Lane got the year off to a great start by being voted "friendliest" at the annual Howdy Dance on September 7. Jennifer Price and Nancy White spent their Howdy week playing detectives and found Super Scot Spies Tricia Bell and Mark Pillsbury.

Representing the freshmen class on the Student Council were Kathleen White and Debbie Roberts. Debbie worked on publicity while Kathleen devoted her time to the caravan committee and scrapbook and Freedom Foundation.

Behind this year's freshman Gold Machine were cheerleaders Kathy Carpenter, Gretchen Cowden, Kelly Hill, Cynthia Love, Beth Moore, Jennifer Price, Allyson Smith, and Kristen Wiley. These spirited girls went to SMU for a week-long session of cheerleading camp where they won a spirit stick and two superior ribbons for their efforts.

Many freshmen strove to vacation in cooler places. Some dispersed to such places as Alaska, as did Wendy Irwin and Stacy Harrison, and France, as did Lorraine Le Doux. Others that fled the Dallas weather were Lisa Gardner who went to England, Scotland, and Ireland, and Paul Interrante who visited ancient pyramids in Cancun and Chichenitza, Mexico.

Some freshmen though preferred to stay near home and enjoy the summer by roller skating like Leigh Martin and her friends Cindy Nash, Meg Watkins, and Sarah Carr. Dana Jackson and Kelly Keany, in connection with a local amateur acting troupe called "Scene IV," spent some of their summer-time producing a musical called "Myrtle." David Voekel and Talbot Marks claimed firmly that the best times by far of their summer were spent at the SMU campus pool watching their vacation go by from their comfortable beach towels.

See what's on the seesaw: Freshman girls test the law of "what goes up must come down."

Hard concentration gives pool players, drivers advantages

SOPHOMORES

Travel, recreation, and employment kept sophomores hopping the entire summer. Many sophomores went to camp while some went on vacations. Kay Brown and Lisa Hearn toured Canada with the Park Cities Baptist Church choir and Blair Gibbs spent her summer sailing around the Virgin Islands. Holly McIntire enjoyed the sun of Bermuda while Bruce Collins preferred Cape Cod. Traveling to Florida were Donna Raley and Jim Mills. Duke Clark and Kelley Franklin held jobs at nearby ice-cream parlors while unlicensed drivers Tommy Hughston, Craig Bailey, and John Hall drove their mopeds on the hot summer streets for fun and transportation.

Four sophomore football players were added to the Varsity team. They were Jimmy Bradley, Cullen Davis, Gil Jenkins, and Brian Watson. The sophomore cheerleaders Gigi Alexander, Anne Beall, Katie Hutcheson, Stephanie Jones, Jill McGowin, and Claire Squibb spent their summer at cheerleading camp at SMU preparing to create spirit for the B-team sports activities.

At the traditional Howdy Dance, sophomore Scots got re-acquainted with each other, and Claire Squibb and Brad Beutel were chosen as the Friendliest Sophomores. Also announced at the dance were Super Scot Spies, Gigi Alexander and T. D. Briggs, discovered by Katie Hutcheson and James Patterson.

Officers make plans for "construction" of successful prom ndividuals of the Junior class travelled to nany places around the world, stretching rom Shelley Branch's trip to Hawaii to Carolyn Floyd's adventure in Canada, ınd from Debbie Sharpe's experiences in Europe to Vicky Hart and Kathy Raley's acations in Florida. Other juniors spent neir summers working and having fun in Big D, like Leslie List, Cynthia Norton, nd Cathy Fuller.

Summer came to a halt as August 27 olled around and school began. The lowdy Dance, with its theme "Only the eginning", marked the first dance of the ear. Laurie Collins and Walt Lightbourn ere announced as the Friendliest Jun-rs. The Super Scot Spies were Margaret illiams and David Hawes.

The Student Council Junior Representatives elected were Nancy Hill and Lane Newsom. Their duties as representatives were to help plan and execute school activities sponsored by the Student Council.

The Junior class played a big part in the athletic teams. Ellen Luce was the captain of the Girls' Varsity Soccer team, while Kim Gott was the captain of the Girls' Varsity Tennis team. There were three juniors on the Girls' Varsity Volleyball team, Bonnie O'Rourke, Caroline Sharpley and Margie Lawler. Junior boys participated in Varsity Football, Soccer, Basketball, Track, Golf and Tennis. Spirit was often lifted with help from the fifty-two juniors on the Spirit Committee.

Cathy Fuller and Tricia Buddendorf spent many hours working on the Highlander as assistant co-editors, along with help from sixteen other juniors who worked on the editorial staff. Anne McConnell, Houston Holmes and Barry Cunningham snapped away as shutter bugs while taking pictures for the Highlander.

In October, class officers were chosen to plan and finance the Junior-Senior prom. President Walt Lightbourn, Vice-president Tommy Summers, Secretary Margaret Williams, and Treasurer John Marks began their rule over the Junior Kingdom.

Sportin' class officers: John Marks, Tommy Summers, Margaret Williams and Walt Lightbourn oversee construction of the stadium.

Officers prepare to dive deep down into Sr. activities

SENIORS

Slippery When Wet: Class officers Ty Shelling, Marcie Kirby, Marcy Bass, and David White dive into the senior year splash of plans.

Spending much of the year with college preparations, the senior class of 1980 wound up their four years at Highland Park with a wide range of activities and honors.

Starting the year off with big smiles, David Davis and Alison Stone were named "Friendliest seniors" at the annual Howdy Dance.

Five outstanding seniors qualified as National Merit Semi-Finalists, while yet others received letters of Commendation. Eight new senior members were inducted into the National Honor Society in a candlelighting ceremony.

Ian Pettit and Pontus Svenson, the AFS exchange students from Sydney, Australia and Stragnas, Sweden, attended Highland Park, experiencing the way of life of American students. Ian lived with the Fred Kahn's, while Pontus had two families, the William Pettinger's and the John Pierce's.

Senior Quarterback, Lance McIlhenny, was named to the All-American football teams of both Parade magazine and the National High School Athletics Coaches Association.

Required courses for Seniors included government, economics, and English. Audio Visual, Business Law and Elementary Accounting were several of the chosen senior subjects.

Senior class office elections in February resulted in Ty Snelling as president, David White as vice-president Marcy Bass as secretary, and Marcie Kirby as treasurer.

Traveling seniors head for parties, Austin tournament

Down for the count: Wrestlers Steve Grage and Chris Rote teach youngsters the finer points of rough-housing.

When senior men were confronted with the problem of empty pockets and piggy banks, they solved it by securing part time jobs around town. The extra cash boosted their expenses, and helped them out with the rising cost of weekend dating.

Several boys not only increased their funds, but strengthened their physiques by working at various construction sites. Seniors Jeff Coker, Brian DeVaney, John Ledyard, and Alex Miller put in long hard hours in the scorching sun.

After school refereeing at the YMCA proved to be a popular job. Steve Grage, Dan Crawford, Brian DeVaney, Todd Farrell, Rock Pillsbury, and Rusty Ross saw to it that the youngsters kept the rules in sports such as football, basketball, and soccer.

Tom Burson helped out at the World Trade Center, Rock Pillsbury counseled at a day camp, and Ray Herrera kept an eye on the Royal Oaks Tennis Shop. While Nelson Bell could be seen driving the Preston Road Pharmacy truck delivering, Chris Gilliam was parking cars at the Loew's Anatole. As Lance McIlhenny was soaking in the sun outside as a life guard, Todd Farrell kept busy inside at a law firm.

In addition, Park Cities News employed Philip Chalk selling ads and drawing cartoons. David Ede served people at Mimi's, while Craig Cornwall lent a hand at Tom Thumb packaging and carrying out groceries.

Traveling kept some boys busy. Brian DeVaney toured Europe, and enjoyed the sites of Germany. Dan Crawford vacationed in Colorado, while Rusty Ross soaked in the rays at South Padre.

Some Scots spent their year singing. Stewart Thomas had a leading role in the Presbyterian Church's presentation of "Godspell," keeping his voice in condition. Cameron Smiley sang his way to All State Choir to be seated fifth in the bass division.

"Control," the name of a punk rock group, was formed and the members played in various bars around town. Seniors Don Philips and Downing Thomas took part in this new wave.

Football kept many senior Scots busy as Lance McIlhenny was named All-American. Tom Burson, Chris Rote, Ted Biggers, and Brian DeVaney were also awarded special honors. John Briggs, Scott Canon, Ed Gardere, Tad Herrscher, Tod Kimbell, Charlie McKinney, Rock Pillsbury, Jim Pirtle, and Larry Showalter all participated on the Varsity basketball team. Nick Williams served as manager.

We'll Be Together Throughout Eternity

The time has come
I realize
As I look back over the times we shared the times we loved the times we cared
And I think to myself
Is this the end?

As we're sitting here together
In this place
And I see the look on every face
The thought of breaking up is getting hard to bear.
But deep inside I know that a spirit's there.

Because the spirit is the reason it's hard to leave each other.
We'll lift our eyes so proudly and remember the years we've been here
So if you feel your heart
cry
I hope by now you'll see
That we'll all be together
Throughout eternity
We know the group is soon to end

All the things we've done
All the places we've been Will fade away to memories we are fondest of
But because of this spirit
We'll always be one in love.

Automobiles Have Changed. Our Integrity Hasn't.

Carl Sewell sold his first car out of his father's hardware store in Arlington in 1912.
It came from the factory in a wooden crate, ready to assemble. Mr. Sewell not only put the car together, but taught the purchaser how to drive it.
The cars we sell now don't come in crates. And we haven't been asked in many years to teach a prospective customer how to drive. But there has been no change in our attitude. We still emphasize that extra personal concern. It is a Sewell tradition. It should reassure you that our good name means a great deal to us. And we maintain that good name by selling the finest automobiles in the world, and giving them the finest service that dedication and years of experience can produce.

Patty (name)

What can I say? This year has really been a total blast and you were a big part of it. Having you in Math & English (class) was tons fun. Wasn't Mrs. Fish (teacher, administrator, or obnoxious student) a real dingy teacher (descriptive noun)?!!? Remember when David and you and Jay always got in trouble (humorous anecdote). Wasn't that the funniest thing? I guess they know!! Seriously, I think you are just the neatest person and have a ton going for you! I'll never forget when you were rude to Nancy E. and Linda said she was going to tell Mrs. Rogosin (meaningless sentimental recollection). That meant so much to me! I hope someday when you are a famous rude person (occupation or profession) you will remember me!

I really hope we can (check one):

- ☑ get in some classes together next year!
- ☐ see a ton of each other before we leave for college!

You are a very special friend and I really value our friendship!
Good luck in everything you do and have a fabulous summer!

Love ya,
Kim Ball (your name)

Patrick,

Your a real funny person. A little strange sometimes but you can be nice, when you have to! This year has been great, Mrs. Fish was a strange teacher sometime but she was a pretty good over all. As for Mrs. Fries, your right it does look like she's been stabbed w/an ice pick. See ya next year. Have a super summer

Congratulations to all the Fighting Scots of '80

Patrick,

Wow! Wasn't it fun being freshman? Just think next year we'll be Super sophmores. You're a really neat guy and I'm glad I got to know you better this year. When I get my car I'll come take you driving around. Have a great summer and I'll see ya soon.

Love,
Shelly

Looks like we made it!

The 352 pages in Volume 57 of The Highlander were printed by Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas. The book is printed in 22 16-page signitures with the Smyth-sewn binding techniques and headbands. The 1452 copies were printed on 80-pound enamel paper.

Copy and caption type are Helvetica medium. Introduction and Conclusion special types include Bookman with Swash, Broadway, Stencil, and Tower type. Spot colors throughout the book are #12 Marine Blue and 80% Gold.

Special thanks go to Bradley Photographers for their help in taking all portraits and most of organizations and athletic group pictures. Also, thanks go to Kinkaid Photo Service and Custom Color Corporation for excellent service in processing film.

We particularly wish to thank Mr. Phil Stephens of the Park Cities News for his great help in furnishing photographs for the sports section. Thanks go to our sponsor, Miss Katherine Carpenter, and also to Mr. Acie Mitchell of the Taylor Publishing Company for his advice on the cover and art work. Finally, Co-Editors Lisa Corey and Martha Taylor and Co-Business Managers Ann Aston and Ellen Wiggins would like to especially thank our families and close friends for helping us make it through all our deadlines.

'79-'80 — Full of unique EXPERIENCES

Cookie monster: Tommy Obenchain demonstrates how to devour a brownie in one single bite at a picnic in the park.
Playgirl: Katherine Carpenter looks over the interesting layouts of a national magazine for ad ideas for the 1980 Highlander.
Snider salad: Anne Snider sits down to feast on a lunch of precious oil-and-vinegar-soaked lettuce and tomatoes.

HP Scots started off the school year with a bang, but as time passed it became apparent that they were back in the same old class to class routine. Construction still continued on the new Highlander stadium complete with its own $125,000 score-board.

Senioritis began to plague the class of 1980 early this year, however, special parties, activities, and thoughts of their new futures after graduation helped to make life bearable.

Snow monsters?: No, it's Junior girls romping in a February snow for fun and exercise.

What an armful!: John Walter forcefully takes hold of a screaming Alison Stone.

Beauty school drop outs: Senior women primp for school in the Highlander "beauty shop office.

Spirits fly high when the Highlander arrives

Flying aces: Martha Taylor, Lisa Corey, Ann Aston, Ellen Wiggins, Houston Holmes, and Anne McConnell make preparations to take off on a much-deserved vacation after completing the final layouts for the 1980 Highlander.

Patrick,
it was fun being in your class.
You are so funny
at times. Have a super summer. See ya this summer! Friends always,
Love,
Nancy

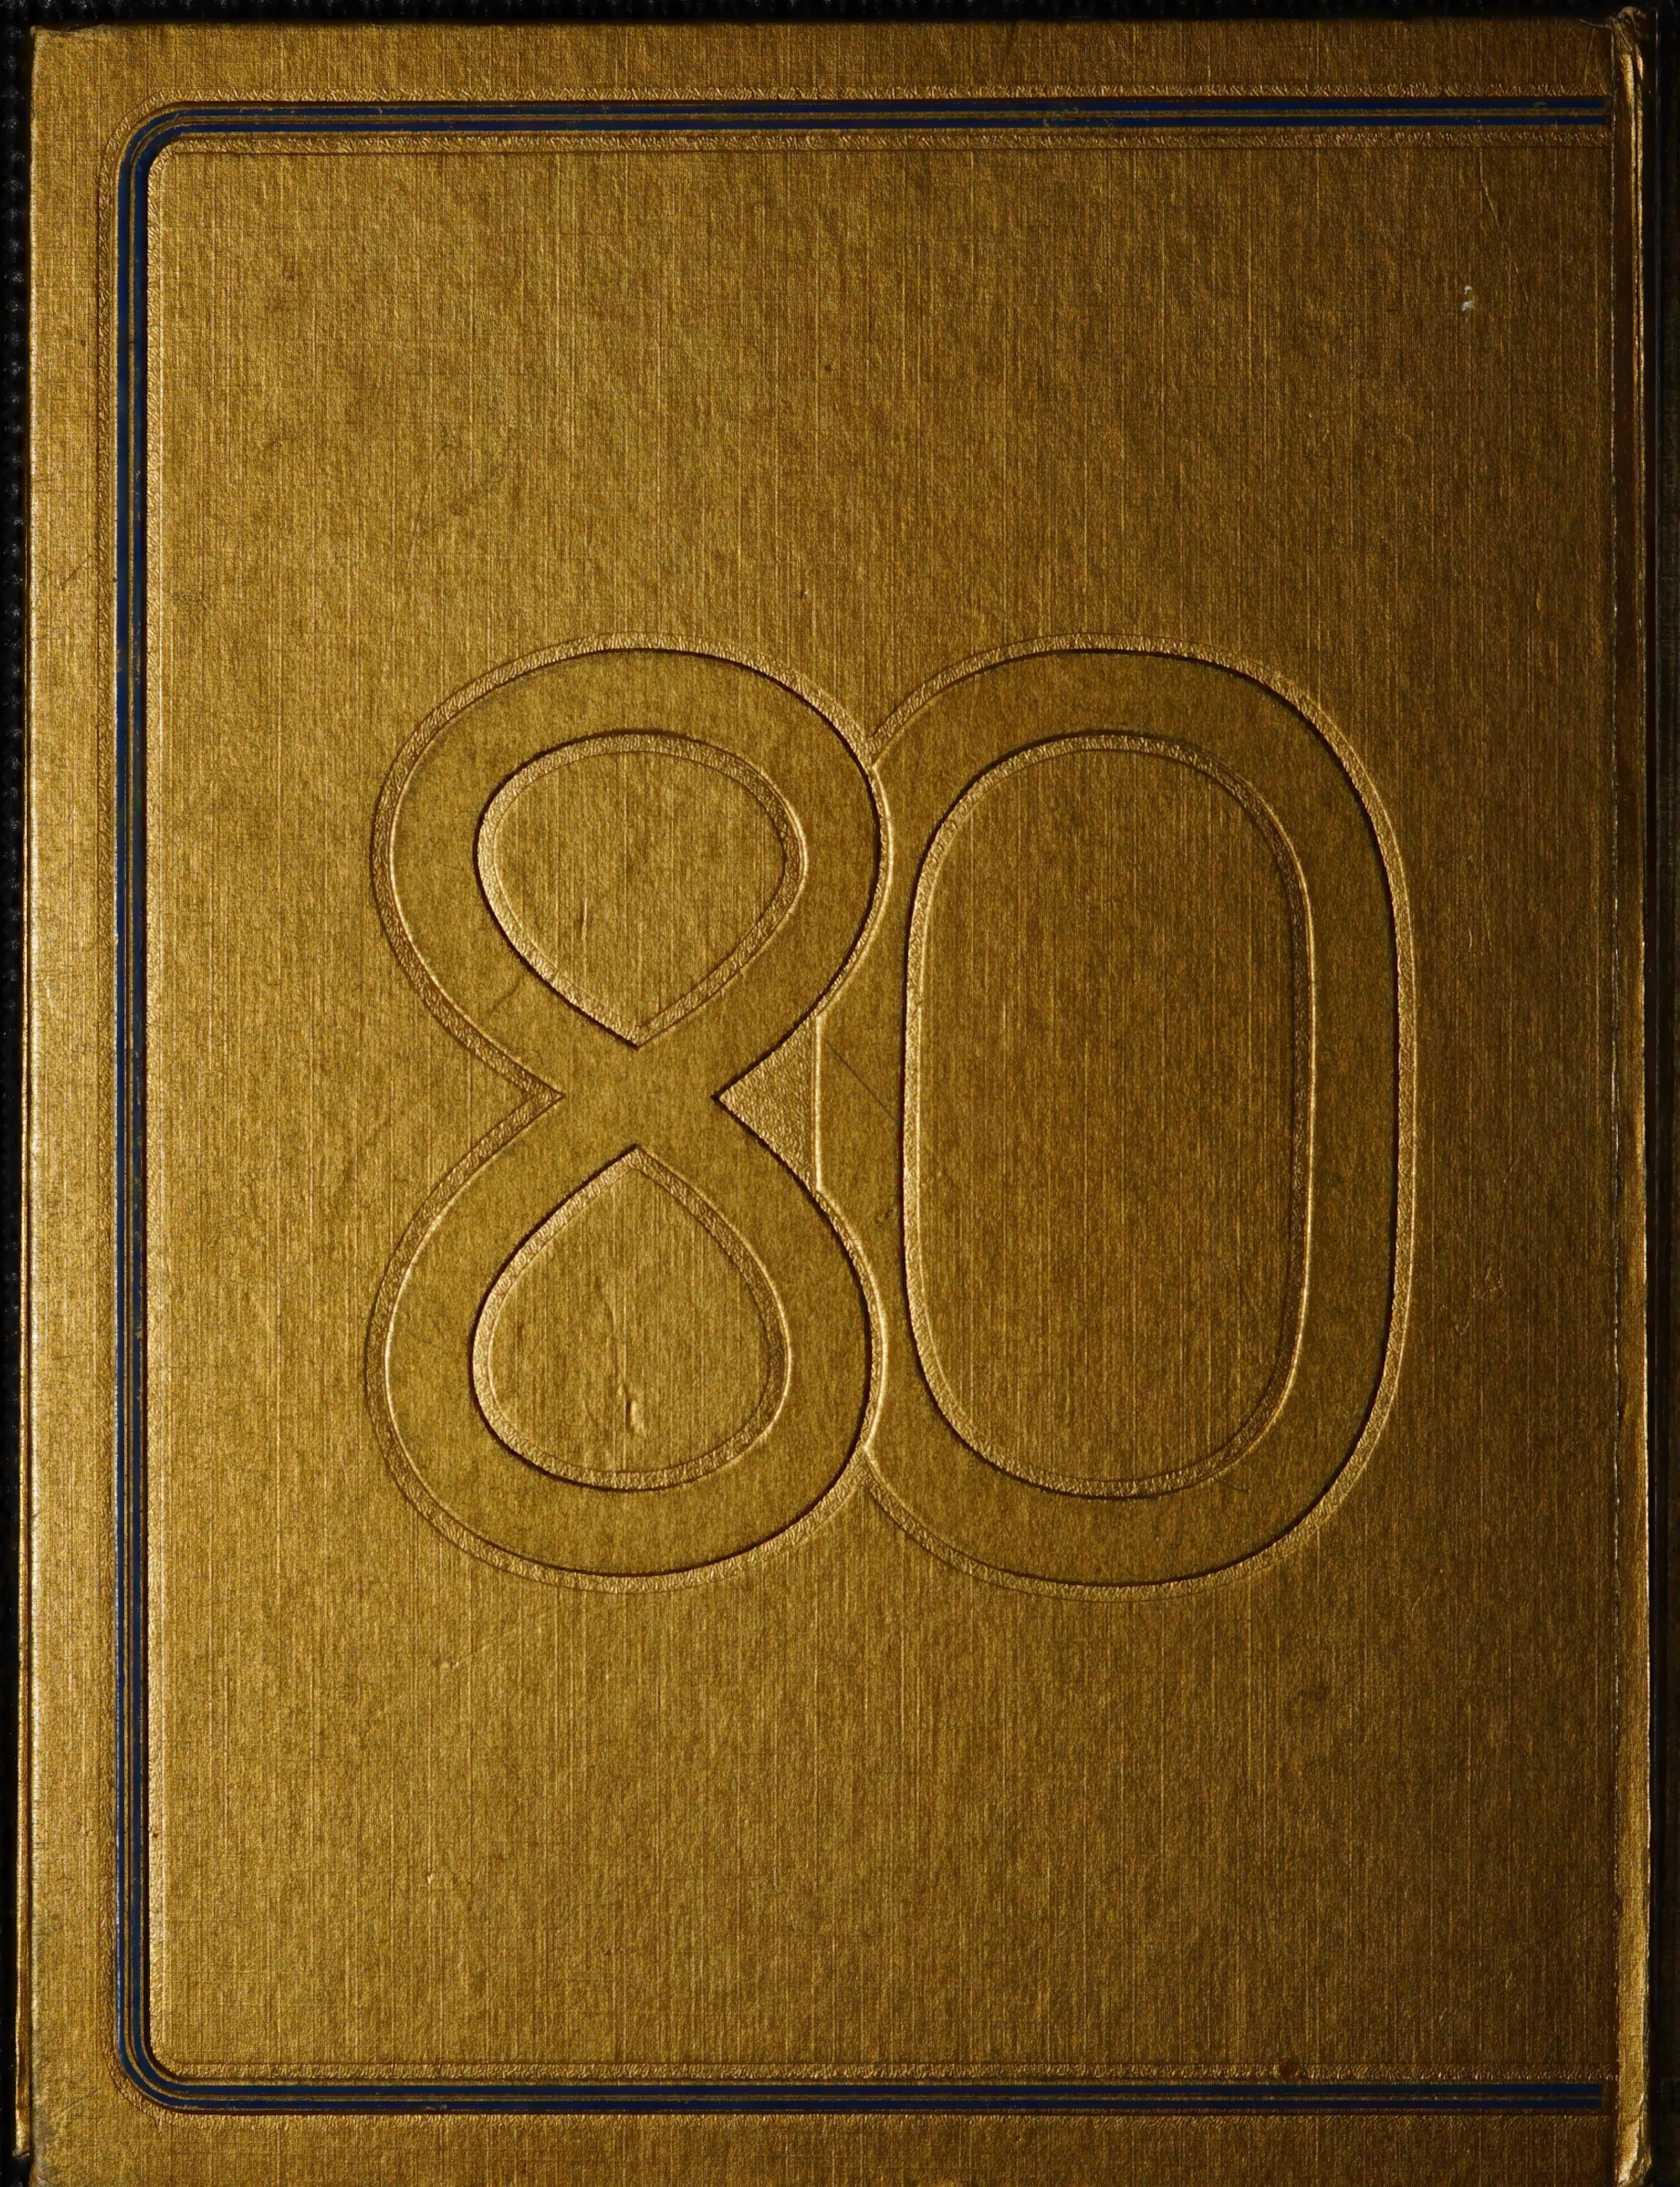

1980

Patrick, it's been awesome
working with you this year. I'm really glad I got to know
you. You've been a blast (literally!) and even though I'll have to wait again for awhile to see you
I'm glad that we're friends.
I hope you have a great summer, and I'll see you sometime next year (that is if you're not in my class again!)
Love ya
Always,
Nancy
